

Zimmerman in Suit to Avert Fund Payment

Appeals to State Supreme Court in Right as Citizen

HEARING FRIDAY

Seeks Authority to Bring New Original Action in Fight

Madison—(P)—Fred R. Zimmerman, Republican secretary of state-elect, started a new action in the state supreme court today to prevent the payment of $6,635,582 which Governor LaFollette's emergency board recently allotted from the state's general fund.

The action was in the form of an appeal, in Zimmerman's rights as a private citizen, to prevent Secretary of State Theodore Dammann and Treasurer Solomon Levitan from complying with the peremptory writs issued this week by Dane County Circuit Judge Alvin C. Reis, directing them to pay out the funds.

Acting as counsel for Zimmerman were Attorneys J. Ward Rector, Madison, and J. C. Hardgrove, Milwaukee, who represented Governor-elect Julius P. Heil in a previous unsuccessful request to have the supreme court assume original jurisdiction in the controversy over control of state finances.

The attorneys filed a petition asking the high court for leave to bring a new original action. A hearing on the petition will be held at 9 a. m. Friday.

Funds Held Up

The release of the allotments was held up pending the decision of the high court as to whether it will take original jurisdiction.

Rector and Hardgrove said they had been unable to obtain any assurance from Dammann or Levitan, or the special counsel representing them, that they would appeal from the decision of Judge Reis, who presided in a mandamus proceeding brought against the officials on behalf of Governor LaFollette.

They said that the lack of such assurance was their reason for taking the case to the supreme court.

There also is pending an appeal by Zimmerman from Judge Reis' ruling that the secretary of state-elect could not be entered as a party in the mandamus action.

The request for original jurisdiction by the high court, if granted, will take precedence over this appeal.

Contest All Items

Zimmerman's attorneys said they would contest every item in the $6,635,582 allotment, which includes $400,000 of emergency appropriations needed by Jan. 1, $2,200,000 in additional appropriations to state departments under the 1937 budget bill; $1,221,906 to pay the state civil war debt, and $2,703,858 for a tax deficiency owed to the teachers' retirement fund.

The mandamus action, instituted by Governor LaFollette, was brought before Judge Reis after Dammann and Levitan had declined to issue vouchers for the emergency board allotments. Zimmerman had threatened to sue them on their official bonds if any of the funds were paid out.

Governor LaFollette then appointed special attorneys to represent both the officials and the emergency board. Zimmerman requested Judge Reis to allow him to be entered as a party to the action, partly on the ground that the governor had appointed the counsel on both sides.

"Friend of Court"

Judge Reis declared, however, that Zimmerman could be represented only as "a friend of the court," which did not give him the right to appeal directly from the final rulings in the mandamus action.

A petition was filed with the supreme court on Nov. 26, a few hours after Judge Reis heard arguments in the proceedings, by Attorney Hardgrove on behalf of Governor-elect Heil. It was filed in Heil's right as a taxpayer and citizen, and requested the high court

A Terrible Effect of Swing

Five live alligators were recently captured in Huguenot Lake, near New Rochelle, N. Y. As usual, the police were "mystified." Game wardens too. But the explanation is simple. A dancin'-band had been practicing there the week before, and some of the musicians, undoubtedly "went to town" in the lake and stayed there to cool off. Of course, that's just an idea. No guarantee goes with it. Not even with the classified want-ads in The Post-Crescent though they usually do well. This one brought a quick sale.

Tunis Police Hold Italians After Clashes

ROME PROTESTS

France Concerned Over Report of Italy's Troops at Border

Tunis, Tunisia—(P)—The French government strengthened its armed patrols here today as the Italian consul-general lodged a vigorous protest against continuing anti-Italian demonstrations.

These demonstrations followed a clash between police and hundreds of Italian citizens, scores of whom were arrested when they attempted to demonstrate in support of fascist claims on this French North African protectorate.

Three hundred mounted guards were recalled from the interior and assigned to patrol duty in the outskirts of the capital.

All Italian business houses as well as the consulate-general, which was attacked by anti-Italian French demonstrators last night, were placed under heavy day and night guard.

The military territory on the southern Tunisian frontier, bordering Italian Libya, remained closed to all except the French military—as it normally is. Vague rumors of troop movements in the area—500 miles from Tunis—could not be confirmed.

Despite the continued disorders and tension growing out of the Italian campaign for French territory around the Mediterranean, officials insisted reports showed "everything quiet" on the border between Tunisia and Italian Libya.

French Demonstration

Today's demonstrations began in the main thoroughfare of Tunis when groups of Frenchmen began collecting and shouting against the Italian campaign for slices of France's African and Mediterranean possessions.

(The French population of Tunisia is 108,068, excluding the army of occupation.)

FRANCE ALARMED

Paris—(P)—Concern spread in France today on reports from Spanish frontiers that Italian troops were concentrating in insurgent Spain within easy striking distance of France.

These reports, which lacked official confirmation, said the asserted Italian troop movement had begun Nov. 22 and was still incomplete.

Reports also spread that Germany and Italy were united to enforce Italy's territorial demands on France.

Gang of Thieves Loots Freight Car

Forces Train to Stop by Disconnecting Air Hose in Pennsylvania

Metuchen, N. J.—(P)—A gang of thieves working at high gear early today brought a lengthy Pennsylvania railroad freight train to an unscheduled stop and then stole part of a cargo of cigars.

Pennsylvania railroad police at Jersey City said the gang, employing a method common in its field, disconnected an air hose and thereby brought the rumbling freight to a sudden halt at an isolated railroad crossing where a truck was waiting.

The truck was backed up to a freight car, police said, and the work of carting off the cigars started.

Railroad police asserted the thieves were spotted by train crew members and fled before they completed their attempted haul. The police said they would be unable to estimate the value of the stolen property until the entire cargo was checked at various destinations.

Admits Plotting to Slay Father To Win Estate; Suspect Lured to Reveal Plans to Indiana Sleuths

Rensselaer, Ind.—(P)—Ralph Myers, 45, of Rensselaer was declared by State Police Detectives Fremont Lemler of South Bend and Edward Rose of Fort Wayne today to have confessed a plot to have his 72-year-old father, George M. Myers, slain so he might get his $75,000 estate.

The detectives said they posed as Peoria, Ill., hoodlums to trap the younger Myers last night. He was arrested beside an automobile in which the detectives were seated with a third man. They said he had met them in the country near here earlier and outlined a plan for his father's slaying.

Lemler and Rose reported Myers expressed willingness to plead guilty to a charge of conspiracy to commit murder.

The detectives withheld the name of the man who tipped them to the plot.

The detectives said Myers told the informant, "there's $1,000 in it for you if you do the job yourself or if you get someone else who will."

FOR CROP CUTS

Washington—(P)—Senator Bankhead (D-Ala.) said today the answer to the farm problem is further crop curtailment. Bankhead, a member of the agriculture committee, told reporters there has been "a mistaken idea that farmers are discontented by 'regimentation' under the present farm act."

"The trouble is that they are discontented over low prices, which are caused by big surpluses," he said. "If we are going to get the prices up, there will have to be more firmness in reducing the supply of basic commodities."

Eight Arrested in Clash in Chicago Newspaper Strike

Police Use Clubs Freely To Put End to Brief Struggle

Chicago—(P)—Eight members of the American Newspaper Guild were arrested and blows fell on a dozen heads in a melee today along the picket line at the Hearst building where the guild is on strike against the Chicago Evening American and the Morning Herald and Examiner.

Those arrested after the struggle, which lasted about three minutes, were Harry Wohl, president of the Chicago Newspaper Guild, affiliated with the CIO American Newspaper Guild; Don Stevens, executive secretary of the Chicago Guild; his wife, Sada; Virginia Gardner, a newspaper reporter, and Nate Aleksovsky, Herald and Examiner copywriter.

Arrested also were Charles Cain, David Kemiston and H. Richard Selzer, international representative of the American Newspaper Guild.

Police Halt Clash

Eye witnesses said about 100 persons were on the picket line on the Wacker drive side of the building when truck-drivers backed their trucks to the curb to load papers. The drivers started through the massed line of pickets. Fists and lengths of rubber hose were flailed, but the witnesses said they could not identify the hose-wielders.

The witnesses said a dozen policemen, using their clubs freely, charged into the welter of combatants. Four men were bleeding, they added, when order was restored. No serious casualties were reported. No charges were preferred against any of the hooligans.

The guild issued a statement saying the truck drivers "attempted to crash the picket line wielding rubber hoses."

Favor Helping Roads Cut Interest Burden By Tax Concessions

Washington—(P)—Three senate finance committee members said today they favored helping the railroads reduce their interest burden under a plan involving income tax concessions.

Such a proposal was incorporated in the 1938 tax bill as it passed the senate, but house objections eliminated it.

Under the plan the government would waive income taxes on any paper profits which might result when the railroads bought their own securities at less than par.

Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) said he thought the proposal might go a long way toward enabling the railroads to reduce interest charges on long-term obligations.

Senator Herring (D-Iowa) called it "a possible way out of the railroad problem," and Senator King (D-Utah) said he would support it if there were a safeguard to preserve private operation of the carriers.

On the other hand, Senator Truman (D-Mo.) of the railroad finance investigating committee expressed doubt that the proposal was practical. He said most of the carriers could not obtain funds for such purchases.

Cyrus E. Woods, Former Envoy to Japan, Is Dead

Philadelphia—(P)—Cyrus E. Woods, former United States ambassador to Japan, died today. He was 77.

Mr. Woods was the only envoy in Tokyo who remained at his post during the disastrous earthquake of 1923. At that time an attaché rushed into his office imploring, "Your excellency, you must leave. There is an earthquake."

"Phine-Woods. I won't be home for dinner," the envoy replied.

He remained in the city and directed relief activities for the American Red Cross.

Mr. Woods, a resident of Greensboro, Westmoreland county, came to Philadelphia Nov. 1 for hospital treatment.

Missing Girl And Suspect Found Slain

LOCATED IN WOODS

Two Bodies Discovered in Automobile in Secluded Lane

Janesville—(P)—The search for a bashful 15-year-old high school girl and a 35-year-old farmhand hunted as her kidnaper ended late yesterday in the grim discovery of their bullet-punctured bodies on the front seat of an automobile parked in a thick woods near here.

Coroner E. J. Overton immediately began an investigation into "several angles" of the case in the hope, he said, he might be able to announce a motive for what he termed the murder of Mary Cunningham by Curtis Hansen, and Hansen's subsequent suicide.

An investigation revealed the girl had been violated and that there had been no struggle preceding the shooting Overton said.

A searching party which included the girl's younger brother and sister, Billy and Genevieve, found the death car in a heavily wooded lane about three-quarters of a mile from a highway. The bodies of Miss Cunningham and Hansen lay inside a single bullet wound in the forehead of each. A sawed-off target rifle about 10 inches long, discharged twice, lay at their feet.

Not Double Murder

The coroner said Hansen, a good friend of the Cunningham family and worker on their farm until it was sold three years ago, apparently shot the girl before she knew what he planned to do. Then he sent a bullet crashing into his own forehead.

Coroner Overton ruled out the possibility the two had been shot by a third party.

The shy, dark-complexioned school girl and Hansen had been missing since they left the girl's home at Milton Junction Monday to go on a Christmas shopping trip to Janesville. Billy, Mary's 12-year-old brother, started with them but was

Six Deny Trust Law Violations

Arraignment of Other Milk Industry Defendants Postponed

Chicago—(P)—Six of the 57 defendants charged with violating the Sherman anti-trust act in the government's investigation of the milk industry pleaded innocent when arraigned today in federal court.

Upon request of counsel, Judge Charles E. Woodward continued the arraignment of the other defendants to Jan. 23.

Those who entered pleas today were among the 43 individuals and 14 groups named in the so-called fluid milk indictment. Forty defendants named in the ice cream indictment will be arraigned Monday.

Pleas of Innocence were entered by Dr. Herman N. Sundens, president of the Chicago Board of Health; Captain Daniel A. Gilbert, chief investigator for the Cook county (Chicago) state's attorney's office; David A. Riskin, attorney for the Chicago Milk Wagon Drivers union; Leslie G. Goudie, Chicago, president of Joint Council No. 25 of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters; Paul Krueger, Chicago, chief sanitary officer, dairy section, board of health; and William J. Guerin, Chicago, chief of city dairy inspection, board of health.

Approximately 25 attorneys filed appearances in the case. In discussions with the court, they indicated they were contemplating motions to quash the indictment, demurrers, pleas of abatement and demands for bills of particulars. Judge Woodward said he preferred to have all the motions on file before proceeding with the arraignments.

Ambassador Recalled For Confabs in U. S.

Washington—(P)—Acting Secretary of State Welles announced today that Nelson T. Johnson, United States ambassador to China, had been summoned home immediately for consultation with President Roosevelt and other officials.

Typhoon Causes Floods, Leaves Thousands Homeless in Several Provinces Southeast of Manila

Manila—(P)—A terrific typhoon swept over several provinces southeast of Manila today, leaving thousands homeless, causing floods over a wide area, and disrupting communications. Meager reports listed 19 dead.

The storm passed south of Manila, hit northern Mindoro island and swept into the China sea. All sectors reported heavy damage to private and public properties, and to crops.

A typhoon signal, indicating the center of the storm was over the region, was hoisted at Sorsogon, Albay, and Camarines Sur provinces. Masbate, Romblon, Marinduque, Leyte, Samar and South Tayabas provinces also were hit hard.

Councilmen Adopt Plans for Remodeling Job, New Police Station, Sewage Plant Garage

What Council Did:

Set a tax rate of $21 per $1,000 of valuation and fixed the tax levy for 1939 at $1,001,417.

Voted to advertise for bids and adopt plans for a $90,000 PWA project to remodel Lincoln school for a city hall and to construct a new police station. Adopted a wage scale for the work.

Voted to advertise for bids and adopt plans for a $11,000 PWA project to build a garage and workshop at the Lincoln school property to be used as a police station and for the remodeling of the school to provide offices for city officials, a council chamber and space for the city recorder.

Ordered published the time of payment of 50 per cent of real estate taxes from March 1 to not later than July 31.

Adopted an ordinance setting the opening of the polls in the morning at 7 o'clock in the morning and the closing at 7 o'clock in the evening.

Adopted ordinances setting the license fee for liquor and beer permits for clubs.

Awarded the Koepeke Construction company the contract to furnish concrete sewer pipe to the city.

Aldermen last night adopted plans and voted unanimously to advertise for bids on a $90,000 PWA project to remodel Lincoln school and to construct a new police station on the Lincoln school property.

Bids will be opened by the board of public works at 2:30 Friday afternoon, Dec. 23, and the city then will have about one week to start the work which according to PWA regulations must be underway by Jan. 1.

The tax rate set last night left the city with a $31,000 surplus which would not be enough to cover.

Benson Awarded $100 In Fond du Lac Suit

Fond du Lac—(P)—A circuit court jury that deliberated 50 minutes yesterday awarded Al Benson, a CIO organizer, $100 damages in his $10,000 suit against the Fred Rueping Leather company and Frank Leu, a company foreman.

Radio Priest Starts Suit for $2,000,000

Detroit—(P)—Father Charles E. Coughlin, pastor of the Shrine of the Little Flower, filed a suit for $2,000,000 against the Detroit Free Press in Wayne county circuit court today, charging libel.

The suit, filed by the Detroit law firm of Milburn and Semmes, seeks $1,000,000 punitive damages.

The attorneys said it was based upon a news story that appeared in the Free Press, Detroit morning newspaper, this week pertaining to Father Coughlin's recent radio addresses on the treatment of Jews in Germany.

Declares Two Helped Prisoner in Escape

Madison—(P)—Sheriff Lawrence O. Larson said today that Donald Gebhardt, 23, of Wausau, received assistance from at least two men in his escape from the Dane county jail last week which prompted the United States Bureau of Prisons to move all federal prisoners from Madison to LaCrosse.

The sheriff said Joseph De Viley, 28, and Alfred Reamer, 21, both of Madison, have confessed they helped Gebhardt saw an iron bar on a third-floor window so that he could go to his wife who was expecting a child. Gebhardt was held on a charge of violating the Dwyer act.

DeViley, the sheriff said, admitted complicity to federal officers last night. Reamer's confession was announced earlier by the sheriff. DeViley was held on a rape charge and Reamer had been discharged after serving a sentence for drunkenness. He is again in custody.

Gebhardt was recaptured after a day of freedom.

FARMER IS KILLED

Told Large, Secure Middle Class Is Needed In Democracy

New York—America's business giants, gathered here for the Congress of American Industry, took time out today from the roar of production and distribution problems to listen to a true individualist—the farmer.

They heard W. W. Waymack, editor of the Des Moines Register and Tribune out in the farm belt, assert that democracy depends upon a large, secure middle class, "and the backbone of that class is still the individual farmer."

Waymack, who won a Pulitzer prize for editorial writing and who has devoted considerable attention to agricultural problems, said he was convinced that if the number of farm owner-operators in this country continues to decrease, "capitalism as we know it is bound to be radically changed."

"The only kind of workable democracy we know," he said, "is associated with private property, rather diffusely owned, as well as other great natural rights."

Heil Asks Farmers To Visit With Him

Won't Go Fishing or Organize Third Party, He Tells Banquet

Madison—(P)—Governor-elect Julius P. Heil, speaking last night at the closing banquet of the Wisconsin Farm Bureau Federation, invited farmers to visit him freely when he takes over the executive office.

"If I can do anything for you at any time, the door to the governor's office will be open when I am governor," he told about 300 persons. "I just love the farmers and you don't have to have any special dress when you come to see me."

He declared that farm prosperity is dependent upon industrial prosperity.

"I want to say to you that the industrialist is your friend," he said. "It is so important that the industries be busy so that the group of men that I represent may have orders and employ men. Can't you realize that you farmers cannot be prosperous unless industry is prosperous?"

The governor-elect reiterated opposition to reciprocal trade treaties and declared:

"I won't go fishing and I won't go out organizing a third party and leave you farmers sitting high and dry. I'll stay home and try to help you."

Attorney General Bans Coupon Scheme

Madison—(P)—Attorney General Orland S. Loomis today advised the state inspection and enforcement bureau that a "multiple dividend" merchandising coupon scheme reported by District Attorney William Freytag, of Walworth county, was illegal under the statute prohibiting a lottery.

He notified the Walworth county prosecutor that the plan was not deemed in violation of the trading stamp act.

Loomis advised John Callahan, state superintendent of public instruction, that a common school district board has no authority to employ any attorney at a stipulated fee per month to handle actions or proceedings in which the district is not presently interested.

Responding to an inquiry from John Theil, director of the state tax commission, Loomis ruled that a Class B retail license for the sale of beer may be issued to the manager of a particular hotel, restaurant or club but may not be issued to a so-called manager of part of the establishment devoted to sale of fermented malt beverages only.

Ask Non-Partisan County Elections

Sheriffs Also Recommend They Hold Office Longer Than 4 Years

Milwaukee—(P)—The Wisconsin Sheriffs' association was on record today as favoring election of all county officers on a non-partisan basis.

The association also adopted a resolution in the closing session of its two-day convention yesterday recommending that sheriffs be allowed to hold office for more than the four present consecutive years.

The association referred to its legislative committee a proposal for a statewide police radio system. In discussions of the subject, numerous delegates favored a statewide hookup.

B. E. Sackett, agent in charge of the Federal Bureau of Investigation's Milwaukee office, pledged continued cooperation with Wisconsin sheriffs. Lyd George of Racine, president of the Wisconsin Police Protective association, discussed police civil service in the larger counties.

Helbie Will Address Kiel PTA Gathering

"What an American Believes" is the subject of the address which H. H. Helbie, principal of Appleton High school, will deliver tonight at a joint session of the Kiel Parents Teachers association and the American Legion auxiliary of Kiel. Mr. Helbie recently has been re-appointed state chairman of the legion committee on Americanism. This is his third successive year at that post.

Museum Is Started in Tower Room of Senior High School

Some of the world's busiest people may be found these days right in the "hacker" government of Appleton High school. Students naturalists have just moved their museum from the third floor to the tower room. The taxidermists are absorbed in getting a deer head ready for mounting. Meanwhile the Nature study club is carrying on a plant sale to raise funds for a motion picture measure.

Ideally located, the tower museum is flooded with natural light from the windows on three sides of the room. A host of varied specimens fill the cases which line the walls. All are student contributions. In fact, states Harvey Gygis, biology instructor, the entire museum is a student project.

Each animal specimen has been carefully identified, according to name, habitat and food consumed. And so student curators learned not only to recognize the various species, but they also studied their characteristics.

The branch sponge, the American alligator, barnacles, fox snakes, squirrels... these are but a few of the items in the museum. One of the displays is particularly attractive, the attention of the thousands of visitors that came during the two days of open house on Sunday and Tuesday was that of the pearl oysters. Through the glass of the specimen case can be seen a real pearl attached to a real oyster.

Prepare Deer Head

The work tables in the center of the museum are at least temporarily monopolized by Frances Galpin and Bub Thomas, who are preparing the deer head for mounting. The first step was removing the skin. Now it is lying in a salt solution after being thoroughly scraped with a razor.

Frances and Bub are able successors to Bob Rahn, a former student at the high school. Rahn has two deer heads in the museum in addition to hawks, badgers, crows, squirrels.

The natural light of the room affords an ideal situation for the propagation of plants. Several tables both in the museum and in the biology laboratory are crowded with pots of the red leaf coleus and the Christmas poinsettia. Students are selling the plants for 15 and 35 cents, depending on the size. Business is thriving, reports Mr. Gygis.

When this first rush of getting settled is over the students are going to tackle the problem of identifying the mushrooms which they gathered in Center Swamp. Each year tons of this delicacy go to waste, Mr. Gygis declares, because the edible varieties are not distinguished from the poisonous.

Securities Salesman At Liberty on Bond

Manitowish—(P)—Erwin K. Fanta, former agent of the defunct B. E. Buckman and Cox, Madison securities firm, was at liberty today on $1,000 bond for trial at the January term of circuit court on seven counts of selling unregistered securities.

Municipal Judge O. T. Bredesen bound Fanta over to the higher court after a preliminary hearing yesterday.

Fanta was arrested in October on warrants which also named three officials of the Buckman company, who are serving terms in state prison—President B. F. Buckman, Vice-President L. C. George and secretary E. C. Holt, who were sentenced in Milwaukee last spring for sale of unregistered stock.

Boom Honkamp to Head Up State's Insurance Board

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison—(P)—Ernest R. Honkamp, Appleton lawyer and chairman of the Republican organization in the Eighth congressional district is being suggested to Governor-elect Heil as an appointee to succeed Harry J. Mortensen as commissioner of insurance, it was learned today.

Mr. Mortensen's term expires on June 30, 1939, it has been pointed out, and Gov. Heil will be able to choose his own man for the $5,000 a year post. Terms of insurance commissioners are for six years.

Mortensen, who is classified as a Progressive, is a LaFollette appointee. He has served since the present governor's first administration, and is a resident of New Lisbon in Juneau county.

While Governor Heil has yet given few signs as to what he intends to do about the department which will fall to him during the next two years, it is understood that Honkamp will like to have the insurance job. It is generally accepted that Herman L. Ekern's term in that office helped him considerably to make a place for himself in the field of insurance law during the last decade, and that it gave him a background which now makes him in demand as an actuarial expert throughout the Middlewest.

Honkamp is one of the younger state leaders of the Republican party, and has risen rapidly in the organization in the last two years. Earlier this year some of the orthodox Republican organization men frowned on his enthusiastic endorsement of and cooperation with the Republican-Democratic coalition movement. That difference has been healed since, it is said.

The insurance department is not as well known as some others in the state capital, but is an important agency of the state government. It administers the laws relating to all of the seventeen forms of insurance recognized by the state, grants charters to domestic insurance companies in Wisconsin—of which there are about 300—and licenses and examines about 500 foreign companies. The department approves methods for computing reserve liabilities, policy forms, rating bureaus, insurance adjusters and agents. It collects all insurance taxes and fire department dues, amounting to more than $2,000,000 a year.

From 1878 to 1911 the office was elective. Before that the secretary of state was insurance commissioner. Since 1911 the job has been appointive.

LaFollette Talks For Third Party

Says Republicans and Democrats Have Civil War Ideas

Carbondale, Ill.—(P)—Charging Republicans and Democrats are "facing the future with Civil War ideas," Governor Philip LaFollette of Wisconsin last night urged a union of liberals from both major parties "if the United States is to continue its progress."

Speaking on a program sponsored by Southern Illinois State Normal university, Governor LaFollette outlined "two guiding principles for the future."

"No nation is rich enough to pay people not to produce as we have been doing in the past few years. 'No nation is too poor to enable human and natural resources to produce.'"

The Wisconsin progressive governor, who was defeated for a fourth term at the November election, declared "collectivism is necessary for solving problems. Collective individualism is to be desired."

The answer to national prosperity, he said, is "keep the people busy. Real wealth results from man's work with natural resources."

Housing Projects Get Federal Money

President Roosevelt Approves Loans Totaling $20,000,000

Washington—(P)—President Roosevelt approved today $20,000,000 of loans to seven communities for construction of 12 low rent housing projects and for clearing slums.

The loans went to these communities:

Los Angeles County, Calif., $2,331,000; Orlando, Fla., $548,000; Atlanta, Ga., $1,661,000; Asbury Park, N. J., $875,000; Zanesville, O., $1,349,000; Houston, Tex., $3,002,000; Burlington, Vt., $438,000.

In addition to the loans Administrator Nathan Straus of the United States Housing Authority earmarked money for 15 local housing authorities therefore not participating in the national slum clearance program.

They included:

East Chicago, Ind., Dearborn, Mich., $1,500,000; Flint, Mich., $3,500,000; Canton, Ohio, $2,000,000.

Best Cough Remedy Is Easily Mixed at Home

It's So Easy! Makes a Big Saving. No Cooking.

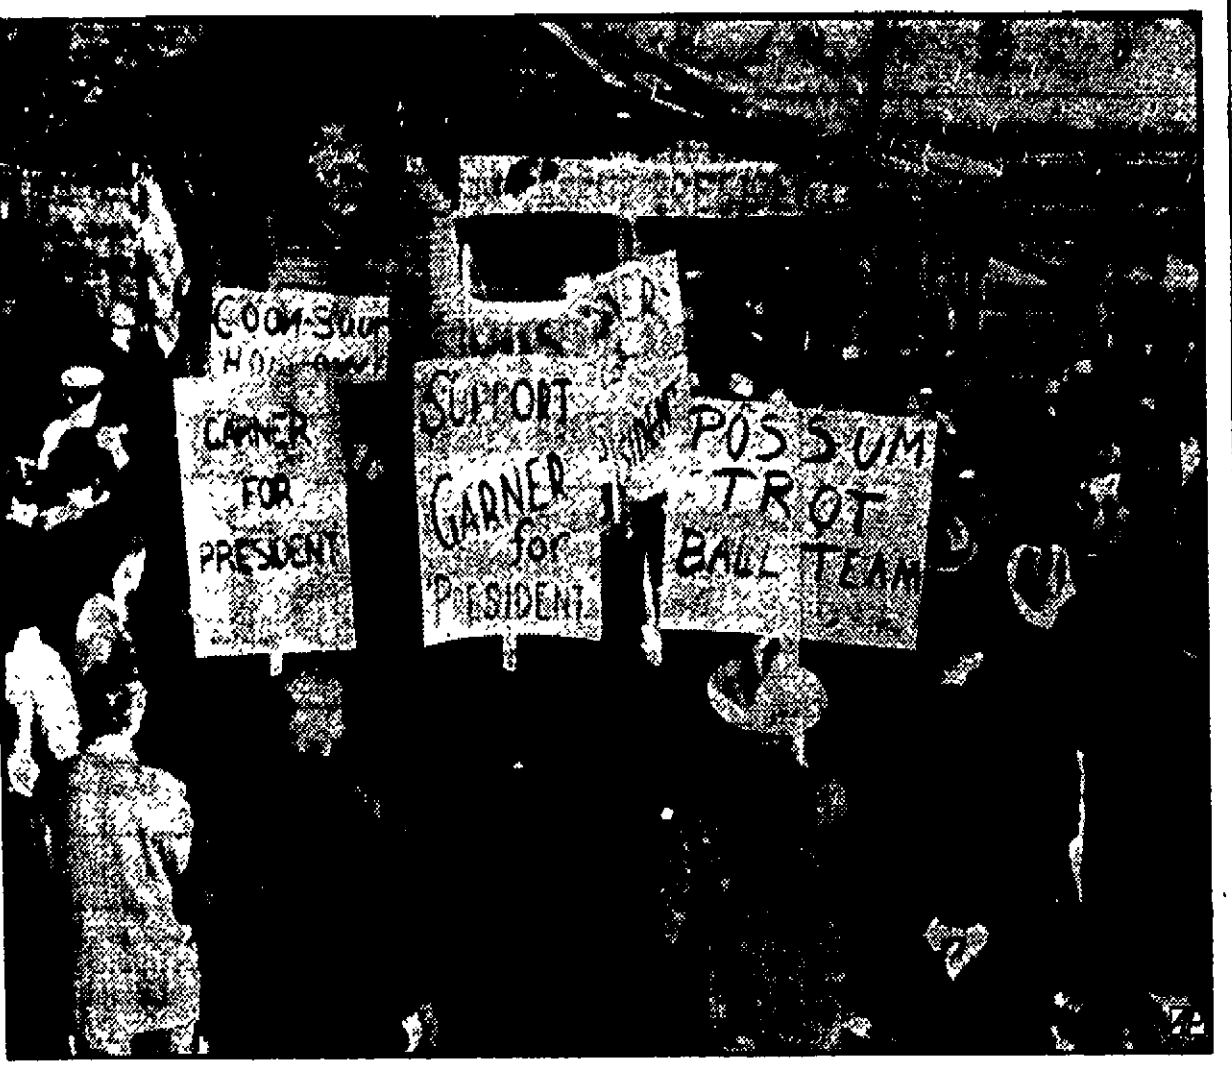

To get the quickest imaginable relief from coughs due to colds, mix your own remedy at home. Once tried, you'll never be without it in your home, and it's so simple and easy.

First, make a syrup by stirring 2 cups granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. A child could do it. No cooking needed. Then get 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex from any drugist. This is a compound containing Norway Pine and palatable guaiacol, in concentrated form, well known for its prompt action on throat and bronchial membranes.

Put the Pinex into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. Thus you make a full pint of really splendid medicine, and you get about four times as much for your money. It never spoils, and children love its pleasant taste.

And for quick, blessed relief, it is amazing. You can feel it take hold in a way that means business. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and eases the sore throat. Thus it makes breathing easy, and lets you get restful sleep. Just try it, and if not pleased, your money will be refunded.

Republicans May Abandon Campaign Pledge of Lower License Fee

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison—The new Republican administration may decide to divert by legislative action about $5,000,000 of state highway funds in order to reduce taxes for the support of the general functions of the state government as an alternative to establishment of a $5 motor license fee which the party had proposed earlier this summer, according to Assemblyman Mark Catlin of Outagamie county, a Republican.

Catlin said that he would support such a move, in the belief that there are more imperative needs in Wisconsin this year, which tax money can be used than for the expansion of the public highway system. He said he has been discussing it with other members of the Republican legislative majority.

Pledged to Reduction

Many Republican candidates this year campaigned on a pledge to reduce auto license fees, and the Republican state convention at Fond du Lac last summer wrote it into its declaration of principles to which candidates subscribed.

The Outagamie county representative, who will probably be one of the Republican floorleaders in the assembly in the 1939 session, indicated that the $5,000,000 can be obtained from the surplus above statutory allocations which is now used for the improvement of the state trunk highway system, and which during the 1937-38 year amounted to more than $5,000,000, and by reducing by statute the amount specifically budgeted each year for new construction on the state trunk highway system, last year amounting to $8,000,000.

$31,000,000 Revenue

He pointed out, however, that such plans, even if approved, would be contingent upon highway revenue equal to last year, when they netted $31,760,721.46.

All receipts from gasoline taxes and motor vehicle receipts, besides federal aid grants, are available for disbursement by the state highway commission, but under the present highway law about $20,000,000 is specifically appropriated by law and can be reduced only by act of the legislature. The remainder of the receipts is budgeted by the highway commission itself.

Catlin is also expected, according to reports at the capitol yesterday, to present a proposed revision of the assembly rules to the Republican legislative caucus at Stevens Point Friday. The caucus was called to discuss candidates for house offices and a legislative program.

6 Scouts Sign Up for Council Winter Camp

Six more scouts have signed up for the valley council winter camp period, Walter Dixon, executive, reported today.

The scouts are Herb Merrill, Troop 3, Menasha; Owen Brown, Tom Watson, Sam Atcherson, and Louis Fenner, Troop 16, Appleton; Robert Lange, Troop 19, Kimberly.

Open Volleyball Season at School

Basketball, Bowling and Tumbling on High School Athletic Program

Volleyball, basketball, bowling and tumbling are keeping the girls' sports enthusiasts of Appleton High school occupied this month. The official volleyball season began yesterday when the girls met in the gymnasium to start practice and select teams.

The Swamp and the Hill basketball teams are in the lead in the noon hour basketball tournament, and bowling got underway this afternoon when teams were chosen at the Y. M. C. A. From now on, Thursday will be bowling day for the Girls' Athletic association.

Thirty-two girls answered the invitation to learn the art of tumbling Tuesday. They are Mary Bongers, Viroca Boyer, Beryl Chady, June De Guire, Merrie Ebert, Vivienne Faber, Mary Gamsky, Marge Heilm, Betty Hilgendorf, Shirley Hoffman, Clarice Holcomb, Edith Holcomb, Audrey Kaufman, Darleen Knobe, Virginia Laeyendecker, Lila Landry, Betty Leinwader, Mabel Loebe, Marion Maynard, Marion Mueller, Jane Melby, Dete Notaras, Santhe Notaras, Carole Schultz, Pat Schulze, Jane Simon, Marian Schwendler, Betty Strobl, Rilla Swamp, Jerry Umlaud, Dolores Van Dinter and Willetta Wenzel.

National Toy Bill Will Cost Dad $183,750,000

Chicago—(P)—Santa's middle men predicted today a $183,750,000 national toy bill would be placed in dad's sock this Christmas.

This would be about 5 per cent more than was spent last year to spread holiday cheer among the youngsters.

Exhibitors in the merchandise mart and along Chicago's "novelty row" went through bills of lading today for a check on the prospective yuletide business.

The array around American Christmas trees, including toys, will cost each family an average of $62.50, according to a survey by the National Consumers Tax commission. The commission said retail sources predict a total Christmas business approaching $2,000,000,000.

Merchants were expected to add between 250,000 and 300,000 persons to payrolls during the holiday rush, the commission estimated, and the turnover should raise to at least 1938 sales for the year to at least last year's volume of nearly $40,000,000,000.

The keynote of 1938 toy business is "modernization" said exhibitors. The rag doll and wooden cart of 20 years ago have been transformed into babies that do everything except think, and streamlined vehicles with bumpers designed to spare the living room furniture.

Wholesalers said "novelty" goods, including scooters, tricycles, bicycles and wagons would receive the major portion of the country's gift buying.

Accident Reduction Shown During Month

Twenty traffic accidents, six less than occurred in November of 1937, were reported last month in the city, according to Sergeant Carl Radtke, head of the police traffic division. Thirteen of the accidents involved property damages, four personal injuries and three pedestrians.

Police conducted 31 driver's tests during the month. A total of 85 bicyclists appeared at the bicycle safety bureau for failure to observe rules of safe riding. Radtke suspended the licenses of 13 youths because of repeated appearances at the school.

Town's Tax Levy Still Incomplete

Brillion Supervisors Have Approved $9,141 for Town Purposes

Forest Junction — Settling current claims aggregating $1,387.66, in the annual December audit at the town hall here Tuesday, the Brillion town board of supervisors added a levy of $9,141.60 for town purposes to the 1938 tax roll, which, on Tuesday, was still incomplete for lack of final figures on local school, district taxes.

The county clerk's apportionments of state and county taxes filed last week with Hilbert Radloff, town clerk, call for a state tax levy of $475.82, approximately $20 more than last year, and a county tax levy of $14,955.22, approximately 700 less than in 1937. In the county tax, the state special charges for charitable and penal purposes show a slight increase. The county school tax and tax for county purposes make up the approximate $700 reduction from last year's figure.

In the town levy of $9,141.60, $5,000 represents the amount voted by the annual meeting last April toward the purchase of a new snowplow and tractor. The remainder is for high school tuition, of which $3,796 is paid to Brillion, $172.44 to Hilbert, and $173.16 to Kaukauna.

To the foregoing levies will be added the amounts of school tax in the five whole and parts of five joint districts in the township and the occupational taxes on bees and on grain in elevators to complete the current tax roll. There are no special assessments to be included in the roll this year.

Association Uses New Approach on Current Problems

Manufacturers Express Principles in Broad-Gauged Terms

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington—There's a very significant difference between the approach used by the National Association of Manufacturers this year to explain its attitude toward current national problems and that revealed in the set of resolutions and platform adopted last year.

This time, the idea is to express in broad-gauged terms the basic principles rather than to set forth specific changes in existing law which might be favored. The importance of the change lies in the fact that an association committed to a definite set of principles does not invite attack on details which, however they may seem essential in controversial matters, often become the fundamental purpose.

The problem of labor is a case in point. Last year, there were detailed recommendations on the way the Wagner act should be changed. This year, the law is criticized in a general way, but there is not the slightest suggestion of a negative character which could lead any friend of the law to assume that the purpose of the association would be to frustrate collective bargaining. On the contrary, the association promises its cooperation in the formulation of amendments which seek to carry out the underlying desire of the framers of the law to bring about labor peace.

Healthy Advance
Likewise, and this is a very healthy advance, there is emphasis on the need for furnishing continuity of employment and, wherever possible, the introduction of annual wages. Certainly this question of "job security" is even more important in some respects than "social security," as the phrase is nowdays used. The fact that the National Association of Manufacturers has come to recognize "job security" as an obligation of industry is evidence that the true causes of industrial unrest in America are at last being recognized.

Emphasis is placed, too, on prompt consideration of complaints and grievances and the adjustment thereof, together with the payment of fair wages and the maintenance of good working conditions. When a national organization of employers puts out such a set of recommendations, labor chiefs will be inclined to see in the words at least a better understanding of what it is that workers want. But labor leaders, on the other hand, will be tempted to ask how far these national employer organizations are willing to go to bring about among their own rank and file a better adherence to the very principles which the employers in their resolutions may champion.

Plain Principles
This, on the other hand, is a criticism of ten leveled by employers against union organizations where the rank and file kick over the traces in what are known as unauthorized strikes. But a start is made when the principles are put

Interstate Commerce Is Given Wider Scope in Court Decision

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER

Washington—To see how far the supreme court has gone in extending federal authority over local activities, it is only necessary to read the opinion of Chief Justice Hughes in the Consolidated Edison case, decided this week.

This was a case involving the National Labor Relations board. The decision of the court in denying the board the right to set aside an A. F. of L. union contract with the Consolidated Edison Co. has received most of the attention, to the neglect of the broader question in which the court held that although Consolidated Edison confined its operations exclusively within New York state, the federal government did have jurisdiction under the commerce clause.

The Consolidated Edison Co. supplies electricity, gas and steam within New York City and adjacent Westchester county, N. Y. It supplies more than 97 per cent of the electric energy sold in New York City and all of that sold in the adjoining county. It does not sell outside of New York state. Neither the company nor its employees are engaged in interstate commerce as that term is popularly understood.

Pointing out that Consolidated Edison supplies electricity to railroads, steamship, telegraph and radio companies and to Floyd Bennett air field, Chief Justice Hughes said: "It cannot be doubted that these activities, while conducted within the state, are matters of federal concern. In their totality they rise to such a degree of importance that the fact that they involve but a small part of the entire service rendered by the utilities in their extensive business is immaterial in the consideration of the existence of the federal protective power."

Found His Precedent In Shreveport Case
Therefore, the National Labor Relations board has jurisdiction over labor relations of this New York concern, Chief Justice Hughes forth plainly, so that deviation from those principles can be chalked up against employers who belong to national organizations but do not live up to the platform.

Perhaps the real difficulty is that too many times mutual distrust has arisen and each side tries to cut corners with the other. The words of a contract, it has often been said, are valueless if the signers are guilty of bad faith or truly seek to circumvent their written pledges. This makes it all the more necessary that mutual faith shall be built up as between rival groups, and especially between workers and employers. Fundamental honesty is lauded all too frequently, but not applied in many concrete instances where persons in authority deal with workers. Great opportunities for better personnel relations, and especially better human relations lie ahead in the field of industry, irrespective of changes in the laws governing collective bargaining.

Personal Honesty
It seems a commonplace to say that a declaration in favor of personal honesty on both the labor and the management side is more important nowadays than any lip-service to abstract principles. Where employers have actually been on the level in negotiations and where labor leaders have seen the negotiations conducted in a truly on-the-level manner, disputes have been known to disappear and mutually beneficial relations result. Bitterness, emotion, and class hates have produced emotional disturbances leading to threats of strikes, and actual strikes. More than ever it would seem that the introduction of a spirit of honest and frank dealing, instead of technical, quibbling negotiation, would help to bring about those mutually satisfactory labor relations which alone can increase production and give private enterprise a chance to earn the profits out of which capital can be invested in order to create more and more jobs.

on the court-opposed that broadening of the federal commerce power. But the tide had turned and the supreme court began hunting reasons for upholding federal authority instead of reasons for denying it, and has done so ever since.

Justice Butler, speaking also for McReynolds, again put in a lick for states rights, reiterating in this opinion the opposition which they voiced in 1937 when the court shifted ground and began upholding New Deal legislation. Their dissent in this Consolidated Edison case would have been a majority opinion three years ago. But it sounded only as a faint echo of a bygone day, so changed is the viewpoint of the supreme court since the spring of 1937 when Roosevelt forced the issue with his court enlargement bill.

HEARING SCHEDULED
An industrial commission case, Henry H. Curtis versus the Gibson Company, Inc., will be held at 11 o'clock Tuesday morning, Dec. 12, at the courthouse, according to a letter from the commission received at the office of John E. Hantschel, county clerk.

Counties Whittle Indebtedness in Four-Year Period

Reduce Obligations Despite Increased Relief Costs

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison Wis. — The counties of Wisconsin, despite the fact that their relief and corporate purpose issues have increased rapidly in the last few years, have reduced their total long-term indebtedness from $81,447,740 in 1933 to $73,717,762 at the close of 1937, the state tax commission showed today.

Principal obligations of Wisconsin counties are for highways and bridges, which account for $28,222,970 of the total today, the largest single item. Relief borrowing increased from slightly more than $3,000,000 five years ago to almost $11,000,000 at the close of last year's business. Reductions were heavy in bonds for courthouses, highways and bridges, and other construction work.

County indebtedness consists of bonds and state trust fund loans, and amounts to almost half of the total public indebtedness in the state.

Typical Counties
Brown and Outagamie counties, like most of their neighbors in that area, are typical in the classification of debts according to purpose. Outagamie county has $675,000 in bonds outstanding, according to the tax commission, of which $600,000 is represented in highways and bridges, and $75,000 in borrowing for the county asylum and home. Brown county's debt stands at $1,149,000, of which $924,000 was used for highways and bridges, and $225,000 for the county asylum and home.

Relief bond issues in the northeastern Wisconsin section are few, in contrast to Racine and Kenosha counties, both of which are bonded for more than a million dollars for relief purposes. Milwaukee with more than $7,000,000, Dane and La Crosse with half a million apiece. Waupaca county owes its bondholders $500,000, all represented in highway and bridge work; Calumet

Urges Cooperation for Enduring Prosperity

New York —(AP)—Representatives of many thousands of America's industrial concerns heard Charles R. Hook, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, call Wednesday for cooperation of America's common people, capitalists and government for a new and enduring prosperity.

His audience, the delegates to the forty-third Congress of American Industry, had assembled from throughout the nation for the three-day meeting. It will close Friday.

$1,265,000 highways and bridges; Manitowoc $592,000, $467,000 for highways, and $125,000 for corporate purposes; Shawano $212,000, highways; Winnebago $550,000, all of it used for the new county courthouse, recently completed and now occupied.

night with a banquet of 4,000 at which Anthony Eden, former British foreign secretary will speak.

"To make America go ahead," said Hook in his prepared address, "we've got to get our 9,000,000 unemployed back to work. We cannot regain prosperity until we do. That was apparent in 1933; it is equally as apparent now."

Local Labor for Little Chute Job

Village Board Members Also Want Contractors To Buy Bonds Locally

Little Chute—At a meeting of the members of the village board Tuesday evening action was taken insisting that all contractors are to get bonds from local bondsmen and all local labor should be employed in the construction of the new village hall and fire hall.

Word was received recently by Village President John Vandeyacht from D. R. Kenicott, regional director for the PWA, approving the contracts which were let recently.

Properly owners of the village have been notified that the time limit of 24 hours after any snow-storm will be sufficient for the cleaning of sidewalks. After that the village will take care of the work and it will be charged to the property owner.

The license committee has ordered the 1939 bicycle licenses. The application will be ready to fill out after Jan. 1. The tax rate of the village will be set at the meeting Tuesday evening, Dec. 13. Local Assessor Joseph Hietpas was authorized to attend the assessors' school at Madison on Dec. 8 and 9. Gregory Lenz was appointed secretary and treasurer of the water department to succeed Stephen M. Peeters, who has resigned.

Mrs. Sylvester J. Vandenberg, Main street, entertained at a 1 o'clock luncheon at her home Wednesday afternoon. Covers were laid for six guests. Cards followed the luncheon. Guests included Mrs. Lester Holzer, Appleton; Mrs. John Ebbens, and Mrs. Frank Weyenberg, Little Chute.

Peter H. Weyenberg was appointed mail messenger in this village to succeed Henry De Bruin who has resigned. Mr. Weyenberg will begin his new duties Dec. 16.

Spelling Bee Features Pythian Sisters Meet

Waupaca—A spelling bee and an intelligence test well sponsored by Pythian Sisters at their regular meeting Wednesday evening in Castle hall. The committee in charge of the entertainment included Mrs. Axel Kragh, Mrs. Perry Jensen and Mrs. Delmont Ray.

The Tuesday Two Table contract club met at Anne of Green Gables Tuesday evening with Mrs. L. S. Peterson as hostess. Two tables of bridge followed the dinner with high honors going to Mrs. Clyde Taylor.

The annual mid-winter fair of the Methodist Ladies Aid society is being held Thursday. Meals were served at noon and in the evening turkey was to be the attraction of the dinner at 5 o'clock.

A short playlet was to be presented by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lampman at 3 o'clock and will be repeated at 7:30 p. m.

The high school orchestra was furnishing music throughout the afternoon and evening, with Prof. Ernest Weber directing.

Color and Gaiety Keynote of 1938 Christmas Greeting Cards

BY NELL CHAMBERLAIN

Color, the brighter the better, and gaiety in design and message strike the keynote of the 1938 Christmas greeting cards. What colors? Well, red, of course,—the color of Santa Claus' jacket and holly berries and poinsettias and Christmas candles,—and green for Christmas trees and holly wreaths.

A new note is struck with several new shades of red entering the picture, following the current fashion trend in "cathedral colors." Several attractive cards are made up in deep red verging on the wine or grape shades, and this trend is noted also in the gift wrapping papers and ribbons.

Blue has come into prominence for Christmas cards during the last few years, particularly in the pictures of ships, night scenes and even as a complete background. The deep blues are particularly effective when combined with silver as when tiny stars are scattered over a blue background or a silver border is used on a midnight blue card.

The use of bright splashy color shows in the backgrounds of the cards themselves, as well as in the decorative designs on the folders and in the lettering of the greetings. Some of them jumble the letters of the Yuletide greeting in crazy style so that each letter is a different color, and others resort to calligraphic and plaid designs, vivid green and bright orange.

The Mexican theme asserts itself in cards this year, one of the most attractive picturing a donkey and cart reminiscent of the "Donkey Serenade," and others flouting gay sombreroes. The gay ninety motif is used to contrast the old-fashioned Christmas with the holiday as observed today, and among the ultra-modern and sophisticated cards is one with reproductions of the clay molded figures of the Esquire magazine covers.

The old saying that there is always something new under the sun is especially true of Christmas cards, for just when you're sure that every possible idea has been exhausted, along comes an innovation like the hobby cards of this year. The idea is to have the cards made up with a picture of a man or woman golfing, playing tennis, fishing or pursuing what ever hobby the sender is addicted to, thus giving the individualistic touch.

Musical notes are a popular new idea in card decorations this season, some of the cards bearing the entire score for "Silent Night" or other Christmas hymns, and others concentrating on a single black note with the greeting inside.

Family Silhouettes

The individual idea is carried out in the family cards which provide separate little silhouettes representing each member of the family including the dog and cat so that the entire household is included in the greeting. Mammals cards for the lone bachelor portray a man seated before a fire smoking a pipe or engaged in the sender's favorite sport.

Animal cards continue in popularity this year, with the gingham dog and the calico cat, Mickey and Minnie Mouse, scotties and baby reindeer frolicking over the Christmas cards counters. Hunt scenes contain the usual pink-coated riders and long-eared hounds, and sleighing and skiing pictures abound. The ship motif continues to hold its own, while the humorous cards with clever, snappy messages are always among the "best sellers."

There are the usual number of Scotch greetings, one of the cleverest concluding its Christmas message with a request to return the card after it has been read. In the more expensive bracket, there are lovely etchings which are attractive enough for framing.

The messages on the inside of the folders of most of the cards this season are simple and direct, the elaborate verses and unsuccessful rhymes of past years seeming to have faded out. Typical greetings of this year include "Best wishes

Enlist Jaces in State Highway Safety Drive

The Appleton Junior Chamber of Commerce, along with other clubs in the state, has been requested by the state highway commission to co-operate in the December "check and dim your headlights" drive being waged throughout the state by the commission.

Dale Fox, president of the jaces, said today that the junior chamber will "help in any way possible." The commission has suggested that radio talks be given about the campaigns sponsored each month.

Ray McNeil is chairman of the highway safety committee.

Highway Committee to Inspect Bids Monday

The highway committee of the Outagamie county board will meet at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon to open bids on new pieces of equipment. Bids will be examined on one pickup truck, one truck from one and a half to two tons, one 500 to 1,000-gallon truck tank, and one index stock filling cabinet.

WHO'S A LIBERAL NOW?

In his North Carolina address the President again acknowledges himself as pressing forward with his claimed liberal program.

Mr. Roosevelt occupies so many positions. He is titular head of the Democratic party and President of the United States, but he also claims to be fuhrer of the liberals. In time we may come, as did people in other days, to give our leaders their full names and complete titles even if it takes half a page. And if the king of Italy becomes sharply insulted unless referred to also as the Emperor of Ethiopia there is no good reason why our worthy president shouldn't be entitled to all his various badges of authority.

In respect to the liberals, however, Mr. Roosevelt does not occupy as sound a position as the Italian king toward Ethiopia. It is evident that the liberals are turning upon the President, not because of any loss of faith in liberalism but that they believe the President's brand is counterfeit.

Mr. Roosevelt has studiously avoided submitting any genuinely practical definition of liberalism except that it is something he approves. Without any definite program we are somewhat dependent upon the gentleman's moods and somewhat upon the keenness of his eyes and wits for its policies.

Is the plan which is destroying the cotton planter of the south the outgrowth of liberalism, a proven, tested tenet of faith? Or is it in fact an extremely hazardous venture that liberals would never undertake since they are rather practical men? Is Senator George of Georgia a better liberal than Mr. Roosevelt? Who shall determine? Unless the people of Georgia are voted as conservatives and have abandoned the liberal policies to which they were so recently committed they decided that Senator George was the Simon-pure article and abandoned the President.

Instances like these might be multiplied a hundredfold. We have no genuine liberal policy in this country excepting as Governor LaFollette has attempted to form a party devoted to such purposes and the principles of which, of course, would be settled not by an imperious, born-to-the-manor ruler like Mr. Roosevelt but in a conclave or congress where principles and objectives were agreed upon and ideas or notions that did not meet with the approval of a majority discarded.

Liberalism to Mr. Roosevelt is of his own personal manufacture excepting as certain policies may have been recommended to him by those he trusts or classes as liberals, however mistaken his judgment may be in the conclusion or theirs in the submission.

Mr. Roosevelt's recent speech was a splendid amalgamation of words. But it said no more than Mr. Chapple's favorite stump declaration, "I stand for what is right." Carrying the comparison further is it any different than the expected declaration from any man doing what he thinks is the correct thing, however wildly or blindly he is groping and bumping the country's forehead as well as his own?

Truly may it be said that the President's declarations are becoming more general and more meaningless as he views the ruins that have been accomplished under some of his most affectionately advanced theories that never paid a dividend although they promised a gold mine.

THE CASE OF KING AND COMMONER

Even a rollicking winebibber like Carol has his good points.

Given a choice between such a lushing bounder and Codreanu, head of the Iron Guard, it is to be supposed that the Rumanian people would accept the lesser of the two evils and not examine too closely into the details surrounding the shooting of Codreanu and his thirteen fellow prisoners "who were trying to escape."

The ruse of shooting undesirables while in custody to prevent them from breaking into freedom is employed in fourth rate nations such as Rumania and Mexico where the people are seemingly taught that law does not depend for its sanctity upon literal obedience so long as someone witty enough to concoct a slippery subterfuge is handy.

But Codreanu richly deserved the cold blooded killing to which he was subjected if anyone may be said to merit that end. He and his Iron Guard had embraced assassination as a political weapon. Apparently the monarch hesitated to deal harshly with the organization following the general rule of the ages with royalty, to employ patience instead of power in the expectation of convincing and reforming.

But it is evident that once Carol became satisfied that even he might not be above personal assault and that no longer could ministers' heads be received in satisfaction of national errors, action followed swiftly and decisively.

It isn't a pretty picture either of humanity or of national life, but "apparently, for the time being, it is the best Rumania can paint.

"NEVER AGAIN" TO BE FREE

At Reichenberg the German dictator brought to the assembled thousands the message that German youths "never again will be free in their whole lives" and quickly added that "they are happy in this state."

The Fuhrer then divulged that the Nazi plan envisages a race completely molded to its concepts of life by expelling from contact with children as they develop those institutions that have preached peace and concord and sought to develop understanding and tolerance.

The Nazi conception thus pressed upon the German people is at war with 6,000 years of history, and by the cemeteries of the billions of dead and the crumbled monuments erected to Attila and Genghis Khans, it must falter and perish.

Many centuries before Christ, Confucius, the great Chinese scholar, said, "An oppressive government is more to be feared than a tiger." And not many generations ago Ruskin warned his fellowmen that "There is in the human heart an inextinguishable instinct, the love of power, which, rightly directed, maintains all the majesty of life and law, and, misdirected, wrecks them."

We do not marvel that a man or group of men blunder in their conceptions of the human race as do Hitler and his associates, the surprising thing is that they have so maneuvered a great and powerful people that they now control them abjectly.

That they can continue to thus rein a nation as one drives a horse and stimulate with whip or spur is as impossible of long continuity as the twin government at Moscow. It is more than flesh can bear when it is known that others do not bear it.

Neither of these governments is actually aimed at benefiting the people. Each is aimed at some wrong or injustice of the past and the thirst for revenge, a thirst that continues even after the evil influences have been removed by death, is the real driving power.

Practically all the great advances the world has known resulted as the liberty of the individual grew. It was freedom that destroyed the rack, the hot pinches tearing out tongues and the boiling oil, all of which tended to make beasts out of those who employed them. It is liberty that has always fought for moderation, been willing to forgive and forget and overlook those slighter transgressions of mankind that are often regretted by those who commit them. All the driving urge of dictatorship has never been able to produce the marvels that have been created by human minds that were free. And even during the Dark Ages every little advance that was brought about may be traced to some man of temperamental genius who actually over-awed his jailors and secured freedom of action from some good natured or drunken tyrant.

The experience of Germany should be written upon our walls. The Germans are today bound hand and foot merely because they gave into one man's hands unrestrained power.

Had the German people remembered the admonition of Dryden that no government ever existed wherein "time servers and blockheads" did not raise themselves to positions of power unless restrained, had they not forgotten that pride urges many men to follow the long bony finger of ambition however rocky the road to travel or the pillow at the end of the journey, and that nothing can become so galling in time as a government that tells its people what to read, think, speak, wear or eat, or had they even read that wise Greek, Themistocles, who simplified the dangers in despotic rule by saying, "The Athenians govern the Greeks, I govern the Athenians, my wife governs me and her son governs her," the chains that now bind them would never have been given.

Herr Hitler is not the only leader of a state who has declared many things that did not come to pass and given many promises to be immediately broken, but it should be evident that at Reichenberg he spoke what was near to his heart and that the German people are either to be poured into the mold he fashions or go through a long and bloody period of terrorism to escape this Caligula who has his vampire teeth deep into their throats.

A Verse for Today

By Anne Campbell

SHE DOES NOT HEAR

(For Mrs. J. K.)

She does not hear the wild November wind
Slamming the shutters of her quiet house.
She does not hear the beating rain, nor mind
The knocking of a sly marauding mouse.

She does not hear the cheerful kettle sing;
The banging door when happy children come.
Their joyous laughter and young whispering.
The crackling of the fire, the sweeper's hum.

She does not hear these dear domestic sounds,
Shut in a world of silence as she is.

DALE HARRISON'S
In Old New York

New York—This is a screwy business, writing I go over to Billy Rose's Casa Manana to inquire into a roller skating act known as the Reynolds Girls, and I wind up with the True Story of "Bet-A-Million" Gates. How a man can get as mixed up as I do is beyond me.

The Reynolds girls are the fastest things on skates the town ever saw. They whirl with dizzy speed, tossing each other around like they were puff balls. So much for the Reynolds girls. Now for "Bet-A-Million" Gates.

It was this way: I walk in and I say I want to speak to the manager of the Reynolds Girls. An elderly but spry gent pops over and says I'm Reynolds, I'm the manager, Mrs. Reynolds is my wife.

So I says Mr. Reynolds I, as a member of the hot polloi and the citizenry with a small c, I have come to inquire if perchance there may not be some interesting data about the Reynolds Girls. He replies that the Reynolds girls exude interesting data, so I arch my eyebrows to indicate he may proceed.

Mr. Reynolds told me the act was born of the depression out in Indiana. It seems his wife could skate, and they had a garage, and the other girls weren't working on account of the depression, so they went to the garage and started throwing each other around on skates just to keep their muscles from atrophying; and first thing they knew they were a great act.

Well, that disposed of the interview; but Mr. Reynolds happened to mention that he once was a betting commissioner, so I arched my eyebrows again and he said Yes-sir, I was betting commissioner for "Bet-a-Million" Gates for ten years.

Knowing that horses are sometimes referred to as "skates," I said, Mr. Reynolds, it seems like you have been connected with skates most of your life. He caught on quick, and we both laughed heartily.

Having put myself at ease in this manner I said: "Mr. Reynolds, is it true that Bet-a-Million Gates ever bet a million on one race?" I leaned forward intently, so as not to miss a single word of his reply, which was "No."

"The biggest bet ever made on a horse," said Mr. Reynolds, "was made by Mr. Gates July 29, 1901. It was for $460,000. I remember it because it was my job to get the bet placed. Naturally, no one gambler could be found to take such a big bet. We finally distributed the bet all over the country, about twenty bookies taking parts of it. I remember one bookie in San Francisco took the biggest single chunk—$200,000."

"The horse Gates bet on was the favorite, which meant he had to put up odds—3 to 1 and 4 to 1."

I asked Mr. Reynolds if the horse won. Perspiration streamed from my forehead just worrying about it after all these years.

"The horse won," he said. "Gates won $92,000."

"Not a bad day's profit," I interpolated. "Whaddya mean, profit?" snapped Mr. Reynolds, in a hurt tone. "That wasn't the only race he bet on. He had a big roll on a horse in the steeplechase, and the beast fell after the second jump."

"Figuring on the day's bets—the $460,000 bet and the one on the steeplechase—Bet-a-Million Gates lost $12,000."

That is why I repeat that writing is a screwy business. Writers commit their innocent little peccadillos from time to time, but I can say in a voice ringing with sincerity that when it comes to dropping $12,000 a day on the bangtails, writers do it practically never.

So I emerge from the interview, and the first thing I know I'm at 39th and Broadway, and there is a big line of people Q-ing from the box office of the Metropolitan Opera House. They are standing in a long line, these Opera Lovers, these Followers of the Finer Things, waiting to buy tickets to such musical masterpieces as "Don Giovanni," "Traviata," "Das Rheingold" and "Otello."

To keep these Art Lovers happy while they wait, there is a loud-speaker pouring music at them—pouring music at the Music Lovers.

And what is the loudspeaker playing? Cavallera Rusticana? Aida? Parsifal? Marriage of Figaro? Mignon? Faust?

Don't be silly. It's "A Tisket a Tasket." (Copyright, 1938)

Looking Backward

10 YEARS AGO

Thursday, Dec. 6, 1928

A tax of $30 per $1,000 of assessed valuation was fixed by the Neenah city council Wednesday evening at Neenah. An additional 2 mill tax was to be assessed on property in the Third and Fifth wards to reimburse the general fund for sewer construction.

Navigation on the lower Fox river between Menasha and DePere was to close officially Monday, according to A. F. Everett, government engineer. Canals were already blocked with three inches of ice.

Emil Hoffman was elected commander of the Charles O. Baer camp, Spanish War Veterans, at a meeting that week at the army. Other officers elected were Louis Jeske, senior vice commander; Joseph Bollen, junior vice commander; Fred Giese, officer of the day; Irving Gillette, officer of the guard; Joseph Hassman, trustee.

Fred E. Schlitz was elected president of the Appleton Kiwanis club at the annual election of officers Wednesday noon. He succeeded F. F. Wheeler. Other officers elected were John Lonsdorf, vice president; F. A. Hammond, treasurer, and A. G. Oosterhaus, district trustee.

25 YEARS AGO

Thursday, Dec. 11, 1913

A bill providing for an appropriation of $50,000 for the enlargement of the Appleton post office had been introduced in the house by Congressman Thomas F. Konop.

Dr. C. E. Ryan was appointed physical examiner of the local court of the Catholic Order of Foresters to take the place of the late Mayor J. V. Canavan, who had held the office for the previous 20 years.

Fred Petran of Black Creek had sold his farm to William Kettner for $7,500 and was to move to Appleton.

President John Hettlinger of the Commercial club the previous day appointed Prof. Mullen of Lawrence college, Dr. M. J. Sandborn, James Wood and J. J. Sherman as a committee to make arrangements for an exhibit and lectures on child welfare.

Farmers received $5,803,000,000 from the sale of their products for the first ten months of 1938, a decrease of 14 per cent from the same period of 1937.

The Texas planning board reports that recent tests indicated ebony wood grown in the Rio Grande valley compares favorably with that produced in India.

Fifty per cent of the American potato crop is sold on the market, 20 per cent reserved for farm use, 12 per cent used for feed and 18 per cent fed to livestock or discarded.

Wyoming laws provide that when two candidates tie for an office during an election their names shall be placed in a hat and the first name drawn becomes the winner.

And yet, deep in her consciousness resounds
The echo of her childhood harmonies;
And she can hear and feel the changing mood
Of Nature in her spirit's hidden wells.
For many friendships warm her solitude,
And in her living silences, God dwells.

A Bystander
In Washington

BY PRESTON GROVER

Washington — It is almost fun these days to cover a Republican National committee meeting—fun for the first time in six years.

It is no fun to attend funerals, and Republican meetings for six years have been funerals, no less. Forlorn faces told forlorn stories and made forlorn predictions of party victory, when all the while everybody knew there wasn't a ray of honest optimism. Now the party faces once so long, are positively glowing.

Grover

There are other changes, too. Some of the party leaders have abandoned their effort to make the party sound liberal—that is, too liberal.

The last election looked to the Republicans like at least a partial repudiation of liberalism as defined by President Roosevelt. The net result is that some Republicans may prefer now to be known as conservative rather than liberal. Even John Hamilton, national chairman, hesitates now to call a man a liberal, willy nilly.

In 1936 everybody who had anything to do with the party was glibly described by Hamilton and other party leaders as a great liberal statesman. But somebody at the recent meeting asked Hamilton whether Harvey Jewett, Jr., of South Dakota, newly elected to the executive committee, was a liberal or a conservative. Hamilton backed out.

"I never try to name the tag on any man," he said.

Provide Excitement

Naturally the most exciting element in the governing body of Republicanism is the influx of youngish members who as yet are not overawed by the elder members with party connections predating the Hoover era. But so perverse is our own disposition that we checked the list to learn just how many of the old horses were still helping to pull the plow.

It developed that about a third of the executive committee and a third of the 90-odd members of the larger membership of the national committee can be pointed out as representing the "old conservative" elements which balked the party for many a year. In actual membership there are far more gray-heads than juniors but age is no exact measure of liberal tendencies.

Simpson a Standout

Nevertheless the interest within the committee as well as without hinges about the fledgling members particularly about Kenneth Simpson of New York. Red-haired and redder moustached, he was the big show at the national committee session. When the meeting broke up, reporters rushed first to him for a 10-minute questioning while the party spokesman, Hamilton, the party spokesman, was left so conspicuous were moved to comment on it. Hamilton's turn came later, of course.

Simpson, at 43, is the juniorest of juniors in length of service on the committee but his position bulks larger than perhaps any other member. First off, he represents the largest state, as measured in presidential votes, and second, he was the campaign manager for Tom Dewey in the New York governorship race. Dewey was beaten but by such a narrow margin that he still stacks up as a major hope of the Republican party in 1940.

And if Dewey is chosen, nothing could keep Simpson out of the national chairmanship.

Annual Meeting Held At Lutheran Church

Waupaca—The annual meeting of Our Savior's Lutheran church was held in the church parlors Monday evening with an attendance of more than sixty. Wallace Barden presided over the meeting. He was re-elected to the office. Other new officers are: Martin Narup, vice president; Axel Spindt, treasurer; Raymond Martin, Sunday school superintendent; Anton Peterson, deacon. John Jensen replaced Will Nelson as secretary. Trustees are Thomas Larson and John Jensen and Mrs. Thomas Larson was elected to the board of deacons. Light refreshments were served after the business meeting.

ADOLF AND HIS CREA TURE

Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

USES OF WHEAT

Beside the heart, germ or embryo in the kernel, from which wheat grows, the outer coat of the kernel is removed in the modern milling of flour, and the outer coat of bran contains considerable vitamin B complex, the not so large a proportion of it as is contained in the germ.

Plain wheat, if people can be taught to use it in the everyday dietary, is probably the best natural food source of the vitally important vitamin B complex now available to the white race.

Wheat bran and wheat germ are both excellent and wholesome foods for everybody not under medical care or not in a state of invalidism. Trouble is that commercial and subsidized medical and health propaganda have instilled into the laymind morbid notions that wheat bran and wheat germ are in some vague way unfit or even injurious for human consumption.

The fine bran or outer coat of the rice kernel, called rice polishings, contains most of the vitamin B complex which grows in rice. This outer coat of rice is removed because the commercial interests long ago taught the simple laity that such polished "white" rice is "pure" and better suited to the refined taste and delicate digestion of civilized people than is the natural unpolished brown rice. That little affection of degenerate civilization has been responsible for untold suffering from beri beri in eastern tropical countries. In my opinion ultra-refinement of wheat in the manufacture of white flour is responsible for a large part of the poor health of the average American population—the moderately well-to-do class who do not suffer from famine or from starvation, but do suffer from ignorance of nutrition.

So difficult is it for people to avoid the use of ultra-refined, de-naturalized, vitamin-poor staples of the diet that the only practical way to correct the deficiency in the diet is by taking daily an adequate amount of vitamin B complex in a concentrated form—or, if one can manage it, by eating daily several ounces of wheat germ or a few ounces of powdered rice polishings, or any combination of these.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Lumps

Have had lump in my right breast size of silver dollar—at times it feels sore and pains some. Three smaller lumps, one next the large one, one an inch above it, one in armpit. Am 61. Health poorly for years, underweight. Do not have much appetite. (Mrs. M. F. O.)

Answer—The description or history you give is inadequate. Better have your doctor examine you, and be guided by the doctor's advice.

Inhalation

How do you explain the practice of many physicians who prescribe (an iodine salve) as an application over the thyroid gland, and how it works, if nothing is absorbed through the unbroken skin? (P. H. H. Ph.D.)

Answer—Just as I would explain the systematic action of camphor when camphorated oil is applied to the throat, chest, etc.—this has caused serious poisoning of infants in some instances. Of course the iodine or the camphor volatilized by the heat of the body is inhaled. Physicians probably prescribe such things because their forefathers did so.

Nutrition and Disease

How can I secure a copy of Prof. Edward Mellanby's book on "Nutrition and Disease?" You referred to it recently. (Mrs. E. C. E.)

Answer—If it is not available in the public library, any book dealer can get it for you. I doubt you will derive any help from it. The high vitamin A diet, etc., Sir Edward suggests for multiple (disseminated) sclerosis, trichinosis, neuritis, etc., is given in "Nerves and Nutrition," for copy of which send twenty cents coin and stamped envelope bearing your address. (Copyright 1938)

Your Birthday

"SAGITTARIUS"

If December 9 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11:30 a. m. to 1:30 p. m.; from 3:30 to 5:30 p. m., and from 8:30 to 10:30 p. m. The danger periods are from 9:30 to 11:30 a. m.; from 6:30 to 8:30 p. m., and from 10:30 p. m. until midnight.

Uncertainty may be responsible, in many cases, for a sense of apprehension and any feeling of depression this day. Your state of mind will have a decided effect on your physical well-being, so regulate your thinking. This day's total of good accomplishments is likely to exceed negligible or poor ones. Sales talks will be wasted if the proof of the sincerity is not forthcoming or demonstrable. People, as a whole, will want to do their own judging and are likely to become skeptical if pressure is brought to bear to force them to accept someone else's opinion. Avoid makeshift expedients, for they may fail to facilitate an advantageous ending to your efforts. Married and engaged couples, as well as the matrimonially inclined optimists, must guard against making irritating answers to civil questions, if heartaches are to be avoided.

If a woman and December 9 is your birthday, you seem to be due to brighten many lives. Blessed with a vast amount of understanding and sympathy, you perhaps will adjust many differences, and be in a position to give a great deal of excellent advice. Through your love for others will come your own happiness. Your financial condition and social position ought eventually to be most satisfactory. Your hopes are likely to be realized in an unexpected manner, and during this coming year you should have many reasons for rejoicing. Great success may crown your efforts as a teacher, writer, poet, musician, broker, store executive, actress or designer. Your married life is apt to be founded on love and mutual respect, with the spirit of cooperation welding it securely.

The child born on December 9 is usually the fulfillment of parental dreams and a realization of their ambitious hopes. This youngster's ambitions are likely to lead it to some noteworthy accomplishments, with a reflection of glory that is likely to extend to its family circle.

If a man and December 9 is your natal day, your philosophy of life will probably not only brighten your own, but your relatives as well. As a publisher, editor, printer, literary man, doctor, lawyer, salesman, actor or clergyman you may win an enviable reputation.

Unhappiness in Store for Woman Who Steals Husband

BY DOROTHY DIX

Dear Miss Dix—I am 22 and deeply in love with a married man four years my senior. He has been married thirteen years, has children and up to now has been faithful to his wife. He says he loves me, but that he also loves his wife. Can this be true? Can a person love two totally different persons at the same time? Now the question is: What shall I do? Shall I give him up and relinquish all my rights to happiness so that his wife may be happy? Has she any right to ask this of me? We have kept our affair secret. Should she know about our love? What should I do? L. S.

Answer: The only decent, honorable thing and the only thing that you can do that will secure your future happiness, is to give this man up and let him return to his allegiance to his wife.

If he is dividing his affections equally between you and his wife, neither one of you are getting much. Perhaps he hasn't much love to give anybody; but anyhow, if you look the matter square in the face, you are bound to realize that you are no grand passion with him. It is just another case of a middle-aged man being flattered by a young girl having fallen in love with him.

You see, he had thought that he was done with romance and had forgotten his technique of love-making and that women had ceased to look at him, and when you threw yourself at his head it made him feel that he was young again and a devil among the ladies, and he simply couldn't resist the temptation to do a little sidestepping.

But his heart isn't really in it. He doesn't expect you to take it seriously. He doesn't have the slightest intention of breaking up his home and divorcing his wife and jeopardizing his place in the business world by getting into a mess of a divorce scandal.

Girls who are trying to take married men away from their wives always think that they have an invincible weapon in their youth, but this is not always the case. A man may be dazzled by the beauty, the freshness, the slimmness, the vivacity of youth, but if he is middle-aged or over he soon finds that he has nothing in common with it and that in a little while it gets on his nerves and bores him. He can't dance the rumba like a boy. He can't giggle over nothing any longer. He doesn't desire to rush from one activity to another. And the woman he really enjoys being with is not the pretty girl young enough to be his daughter, but his wife who is his age and who wants to do the things he wants to do.

So there you are. Your middle-aged lover has enjoyed his little affair with you, but he doesn't want to marry you. He doesn't intend to marry you. The sooner you realize this and break off with him, the better. There is nothing for you to look forward to except the hopeless waiting that will burn out your youth and make you an old woman before your time that will shut the door to marriage for you and leave you a lonely and embittered woman.

You ask why you should relinquish this man to his wife. For the very obvious reason that you should return stolen goods. Her husband belongs to her and not to you, and you have no right to try to take him from her. And believe me, my dear, no woman can build her house of happiness on the wreck of another woman's home.

Dear Dorothy Dix—John and I have been going together for eight years. He has asked me to marry him time and again, but much as I love him I feel that I cannot marry him under present conditions. If we marry we shall have to live with his father and mother and two small children who are brats, because John has to support his family. His father is too old to work and his only business is to wander around the house sticking his finger in everybody's pie. The mother is a hateful, selfish hypocrite who thinks it is John's duty to slave for his family. She is extravagant and wasteful and runs up grocery bills higher than John's pay check. And she doesn't attempt to control the children. This condition of affairs is bound to go on indefinitely, and the question is: What must John and I do? We love each other devotedly. Should I marry him in spite of everything, or keep on waiting? A. N. A.

Answer: If you have any intelligence whatever you will never go to live with John's people. Such a household is a hell on earth, and to enter

SPOOL-WAIST

BY ANNE ADAMS

You'll want to be a regular "gad-about" when you finish making this winsome spool-waist frock. And indeed, it's perfect of its type—new-casual enough to wear everywhere—becoming—and young! Wouldn't you like to send for Pattern 4996 today? You'll actually enjoy stitching it up—for, praise be, there are few pattern pieces, and they're easy to manage even if you know little about sewing! Mark this as well—the instruction sheet of this just-created Anne Adams style is a great simplifier of work. Why not choose such fabrics as our picture suggests—silks, wools or synthetics. And have the pointed "girdle" section bias or straight cut (or in a contrasting color), and the sleeves long or short.

Pattern 4996 is available in misses' sizes 12, 14, 16, 18 and 20. Size 16 takes 2½ yards 54 inch fabric.

Send fifteen cents (15c) in coins for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly size, name, address and style number.

Write today for your copy of Anne Adams Winter pattern book, and be smartly dressed with economy. This brilliant collection of "round-the-clock" fashions shows correct clothes you can easily make for every outdoor and indoor occasion. her charges. If she protests, say that you couldn't continue taking her time regularly unless she would be willing to make it a business arrangement. This is only fair. Teachers' salaries are in many places not very big, and even a small additional sum might be very welcome. In any case, if I were you I would talk it over with her frankly, explain to her (what is plainly true) that your income is small but at the same time it is not fair to her to let her lengthen her school-day work, three days a week, without giving her whatever it is that you can afford.

The Clergyman and His Wife Are Different

Dear Mrs. Post: May we invite our clergyman and his wife to dinner again under the following conditions: We had them to dinner over a year ago. This was the first time we entertained them; had not seen fit to call on me although her husband has been here about twice in the afternoon—both times leaving a card in my absence.

Answer: Certainly invite them again. A clergyman and his wife are not expected to entertain their parishioners as often as the parishioners entertain them. In any case, the give-and-take is something which would be forgotten among all real friends—even more so, in fact, in the case of a clergyman than in that of your other neighbors.

Reach Grand Slam Through Unusual Bid

BY ELY CULBERTSON

LAST THURSDAY'S QUESTIONS

Question 43—Neither side vulnerable, the bidding proceeds:

North East South West
1 spade 2 hearts ?

You are South and hold:

▲ Q 10 6 5 2 ♥ 7 3 ♦ 8 4 2 ♣ 10 8 5

What call do you make?

Answer:—You should pass. To give a free raise with absolutely nothing but trump support, and not even good distribution, is one of the worst errors in bridge. Partner could not possibly read a raise and might be trapped into all sorts of fatal actions. (Twenty points demerit for two spades; thirty point demerit for any other bid.)

Question 50—Both sides vulnerable, the bidding has proceeded:

North East South West
1 spade Pass 2 spades Pass
4 hearts Double ?

You are South and hold:

♥ None ♦ K Q 6 3 ♣ K Q J 5

What call do you make?

Answer:—You should bid five hearts. Admittedly, this is a "master bid," but a strictly logical one. It is the only method by which you can indicate first round control in your own partner's second bid suit. If you really had heart support, you would, of course, redouble. Hence your apparent "raise" is clearly readable as a cue bid. For fuller explanation see today's hand below. (No demerit for going back to spades, but take twenty points credit if you bid five hearts.)

TODAY'S QUESTIONS

Question 56—Both sides vulnerable, the bidding proceeds:

North East South West
1 diamond Pass 1 spade Pass
2 diamonds ?

You are South and hold:

▲ A Q J 9 4 ♥ A J 10 8 7 ♦ 6 5 4 3 ♣ 9

▲ K Q J 5

The bidding:

North East South West
1 spade Pass 1 spade Pass
4 hearts Double 5 hearts Pass
7 spades Pass 7 spades Pass

This hand is based on Question 50, answered above.

The high water mark of the above bidding was, of course, South's unorthodox but beautifully logical five heart bid. There is nothing to the play. Thirteen tricks were an absolute laydown and, indeed, North (dealer) had something to spare. Without South's five heart bid, however, it would have been impossible for the partnership to have reached a grand slam by logical means. When the four heart bid was doubled by East, South was given a marvelous opportunity to show the exact nature of his hand. Surely, if South really had liked the hearts enough to raise, he would by the same token, have liked them well enough to redouble. Hence a raise from four to five, directly in the face of the double, could mean only one thing, that South was making a cue bid and thereby showing the ability to control the first round of the suit. Thereupon, North's seven bid became justified by every logical test.

Consider the difficulty (impossibility) of reaching a laydown grand slam if South hadn't bid five hearts. Suppose South were to jump all the way to six spades over the five heart double. North still would have to fear the loss of a heart trick. South might have the A-K-Q of clubs, the K-Q-J of diamonds and the K-Q of spades, but also a singleton heart which would be a sure loser.

Dim Lights for Safety

Beauty and You

by PATRICIA LINDSAY

Bonita Granville demonstrates to young and old the correct technique of brushing hair. Up—away from scalp! Her brush boasts good stiff bristles!

You frequently hear (and perhaps have said) that busy women have no time for all this primping and personal grooming. "Goodness," one woman said to me recently, "I would be doing nothing else if I took care of my skin and hair and figure as you say I should! Well, here is my answer to that!

That most enterprising of beauticians whose salons are internationally famous, has taken the busy woman's problem in hand, after settling the daily beauty schedule of the school girl.

From concentrated experiments she decided that any woman can be meticulously groomed if she will devote only fifteen minutes each day to making herself a more loveliness, and five minutes exercising. And there is no woman alive who does not have fifteen minutes to devote to herself each and every day.

Begins with Silhouette

This authority believes that your silhouette is the most important concern, your skin next, and your hair last.

It is true that a nicely proportioned figure is a great asset to any woman. And once you have dieted and exercised the extra pounds away, it is simple to keep lovely looking by eating as you should and exercising a bit each day. Five minutes of the right movements should be sufficient—even during the winter months when you are more confined to indoors.

There is another angle to making your figure of primary importance.

CASE RECORDS OF A PSYCHOLOGIST

By Dr. George W. Crane
Psychologist, Northwestern University

Polly's case today should be an object lesson to all young women. Don't foolishly play with fire till you get burnt. Profit by the experiences of others as you read about them in this column, and avoid letting any man employ you as a human guinea pig for his amateurish experimentation.

CASE L-188: Polly H., aged 19, graduated from high school a year ago with honors, and has been working in an office since then.

"For three years I have dated one boy," she began. "We loved each other and talked frequently of marriage when he would be through college. He is a junior now."

"I thought we would surely get married so I gave myself to him completely. But now he tells me he thinks we are too young to consider marriage."

"He says he likes me, but doesn't love me any more. There isn't any other girl, he tells me, but he just thinks we made a mistake."

"I'm the first girl he ever had much to do with, for he was rather shy and uncertain of himself when we started dating."

"Dr. Crane, I still love him and always shall. Isn't there a way by which I can make him love me again? I feel I can never marry any other man because I gave myself to this boy. What can I do?"

DIAGNOSIS:

When Polly and her boy friend first fell in love she was 16 and he was 17. This was simply a puppy love affair, as most of these teen-age romances turn out to be. A girl is very stupid, therefore, to gamble everything when the odds are 10 to 1 that a year or so later she and her boy friend will scarcely be on speaking terms.

Young men usually practice on the first few girls they date. They employ these girls much like experimental guinea pigs in our science laboratories.

They polish up their "sales talk"

Girl of Eighteen Capable of Shouldering Household Cares

BY ANGELO PATRI

Here is a problem that faces many a mother at least once in a lifetime: "I have to go to the hospital and remain there for at least a month if not more. My daughter, aged eighteen, wants to take charge of the household during my absence. I thought I would have my sister come, but my daughter and she never got along well. There are three younger children, all in school. I don't know what to do to be wise."

I would vote to give Daughter a chance. First because it is always best for a family to be self-contained and self-helpful. If it is at all possible for the children and father to get along together without the presence of a relative, however loved, it is best for them to do so. The experience knits them together. They learn more of each other and learn to value each other's good points as well as to discount the less happy ones. By all means let the family see it through by themselves.

A girl of eighteen is in the first flush of womanhood. She is eager to do for her family, eager to show them how well she can manage in her mother's place. Feeling herself at the head of the family gives her the dignity and the self-appreciation, that she needs at this time. The actual work, the actual responsibility will be an experience worth all it costs.

Mothers ought not to wait for emergencies like this before giving their older daughters a chance to carry household responsibility. All girls, no matter what place they intend to occupy in the working world, should know how to manage a household. The only way they will ever learn is by actually taking hold and doing the job. If mother can go away for a time, so much the better, because the experience will be more practical. It is better not to have mother on hand when a question about how much baking powder, or what temperature in the oven is needed. A few burned biscuits are allowed every beginner, and until the allowance has been burned there is little chance of the perfect ones appearing.

One more suggestion that arises from my experience with such situations. When daughter is married and goes to her own home, let her have it all her way. Stay out. No matter if she doesn't know how to buy groceries, or make a pie, or flavor the soup. Stay out. Stay out until you are invited, and then don't be too eager to accept the invitation.

Make yourself so scarce that your presence will be something to talk about.

Young people need to be left alone to learn about their own business. They have to learn first to get on with each other, and that is better learned without onlookers. They need to fit themselves into the new scheme of living; that calls for first-hand experiences. Mistakes will not be so bitter if there is nobody to say, "Why didn't you do as I told you?"

Give the girl a chance. Start early to share the house with her. Learn early that she is a person in her own right, ready to carry her share of the world's work. Get out of her way and so help her mightily.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing a three-cent stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

THE ARMY POST MURDERS

By Virginia Hanson

The Characters
Katherine Cornish, myself, visiting Elizabeth on a mid-western Army post.
Elizabeth, Colonel Wright's daughter.
Adam Drew, acting commanding officer.

Yesterday: The strange woman is the girl I saw on the train. She loses consciousness and Adam sends me to the hospital where the others are waiting for news of Anne.

Chapter 15
"Who Is She?"

DOC MOORE'S glance went from face to face. His own was calm, professionally detached.

"There's nothing anyone can do," he said.

The words lay in the room like the visible presence of death. Elizabeth groped for a chair-back. Barney's face jerked, his eyes closed. He stumbled to the window and looked out into the darkness. Annie's hands twitched in her lap. Then she was beside Elizabeth, peering up at her with her little snarled face that was like a withered, wind-fallen apple.

"You'd best be takin' me to—to her mother," she said.

Barney turned from the window.

"Shall I go with you, Elizabeth?" he asked gently.

Her pitiful eyes searched his face, seemed to mark the composure he had gained.

"No, you go on to the club—see what Major Drew wants. I'll be along in a few minutes."

Doc Moore was telling Annie that he would be in to see Mrs. Carewe as soon as he could. Then the three of them were gone, and I was delivering my message in a quick undertone.

He was already fumbling with the tapes of the surgical gown, which he was wearing over his white dress.

"I'll ride with you—you can tell me the details," he said. "Turn me car around. I'll be right out."

He joined me in a minute, dressed once more for evening and carrying his emergency kit.

"Now tell me again," he directed as I headed the car down Officers' row.

So I described once more my first sight of the girl on the stairs, the peculiar motions she was making and my finding her collapsed a few minutes later. He questioned me minutely about the color of her face; and was I sure there was foam on her lips? Then he made me describe in detail her actions when I first saw her.

"The aura," he murmured.

"What?" Do you think she was poisoned?

"No—that is, I'll have to see her."

Clare Tree Major Players Will Bring Life to Story of 'King of the Golden River'

COLORFUL costumes and scenery, real live actors and well-known stories undeniably presented are the three chief reasons cited by children themselves to explain why they like the Clare Tree Major Children's Theater productions, one of which, "The King of the Golden River," will appear the afternoon of Dec. 15 at Lawrence Memorial chapel under the auspices of Edison school Parent Teacher's association.

In a recent essay contest conducted by a newspaper where the players were to appear, a 13-year-old girl who won the prize wrote: "I always enjoy seeing my favorite books 'put to life' for it makes the book much more real after seeing it acted by living actors. Although moving pictures have produced some of my favorite stories, they often change the plot so much that I am bewildered and can never enjoy the book as much afterwards."

Another child of 10 wrote: "I enjoy the plays because the players have such pretty costumes and they have pretty scenery." This comment occurred again and again in the essays.

"The players know their parts so well. Their voices are loud and plain so that everybody can hear them," approved another youngster. Mrs. Ben W. Rowland, general chairman of the sponsoring committee, and her co-workers are conducting an intensive ticket-selling campaign in the various public and parochial schools of Appleton. Mrs. Rowland's name was erroneously given as Mrs. Charles Rowland in lines under a picture of herself and two children in last night's issue of the Post-Crescent. Mrs. Harvey Younger is chairman of tickets and there is a sub-chairman for each large school or group of smaller ones.

The play will be presented at 2:30 in the afternoon, and those school children who plan to attend will be excused in ample time by their teachers upon receipt of written permission from the parents.

The auxiliary will entertain at luncheon at 12:30 Saturday afternoon at the Candle Glow Tea room for grand auxiliary officers who will be here for the meeting.

Among them will be Mrs. Rose Opperman, Milwaukee, grand president; Mrs. Pearl Wuerz, Fond du Lac, past grand president; Mrs. Leslie Pease, Appleton, grand parliamentarian; Mrs. William Rollinson, Appleton, grand treasurer; Mrs. Clara Gebhardt, Racine, past grand secretary; and Mrs. Charles Rumpf, Appleton, past grand president. There will be an auxiliary business meeting at 2 o'clock in the afternoon at Odd Fellow hall, after which the women will join the men for the banquet and the dance which will follow it.

Eleven tables of cards were in play at the visiting day party given by Ladies Auxiliary of Eagles Wednesday afternoon at Eagle hall. Schafskopf prizes were won by Mrs. J. J. Barta, Mrs. John Brandt and Mrs. Anna Kobs and dice awards went to Mrs. Frank Preuss and Mrs. Catherine Henry.

Mrs. Orville Perrine was elected noble grand of Deborah Rebekah lodge at a meeting Wednesday night at Odd Fellow hall. Other officers named were Mrs. Ruth Greiner, vice grand; Miss Grace Vogel, recording secretary; Mrs. Effie Eberhardt, financial secretary; Mrs. Josephine Burhans, treasurer; Mrs. Oscar Bruss, staff captain; and Mrs. William Martin, trustee for three years. Mrs. Alice Ralph was recommended for deputy. Plans were made for a Christmas party and pot-luck supper for Odd Fellows, Rebekahs and their families. Initiation will take place at the next regular meeting of the lodge.

Fred Sievert was chosen noble grand of Konic lodge. Order of Odd Fellows, at a meeting this week at Odd Fellow hall. Reuben Heise was named vice grand, Reno Clark was elected trustee for three years, and Wilson Patterson and De Witt Taylor were re-elected secretary and treasurer, respectively.

Appleton Encampment of Odd Fellows will elect its officers at a meeting at 8 o'clock Friday night, and will confer the patriarchal degree. There will be a meeting of lodges in District 19 Saturday night at Stockbridge.

Carpenters auxiliary, No. 235, met last night at the home of Mrs. W. Behnke, 701 N. Richmond street. Games were played, with prizes going to Mrs. Carl Ziegler and Mrs. M. Dunford. The group's next meeting will be Jan. 4 at Mrs. Clark's home on W. Wisconsin avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Club To Elect Officers Officers of the Mr. and Mrs. club of First Congregational church will be elected for the coming year at a meeting to be held in connection with a Christmas party at 8 o'clock Friday night at the church. The nominating committee which will present the slate of officers includes Mr. and Mrs. John Ruhlman, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Krabbe, Mr. and Mrs. Vilas Gehin, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Shepherd and Mr. and Mrs. Karel Richmond.

Clifford Jurgenson, Kimberly, will present a program of magic and there will be group singing of Christmas carols. Hosts and hostesses will be Mr. and Mrs. William E. Buchanan, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Gebhardt, Mr. and Mrs. Kirk

BLACK JERSEY Paris—(U—) Dining at Maxim's recently was Madame Robert Lazard, wife of the Paris banker. She wore an evening tailleur of Paquin's in black jersey with high shoulder jacket and large revers. The skirt of the dress was entirely covered with paillettes in red, green, blue and yellow, in rainbow effect. When the jacket was removed the same paillettes could be seen covering the top of the corsage.

GIRLS MAKE DRESSES FOR STYLE SHOW Vernice Dreier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dreier, 1522 N. Clark street, is reflected in the mirrors as she stands for a fitting of the plaid wool skirt she is making to enter in the annual style show at Appleton High school Dec. 15. The show will be staged by the home arts department for the rest of the student body. On the left is Marian Krause, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Krause, 1611 N. Alvin street, who is working on the hem of Miss Dreier's dress while on the right is Miss Mildred Nickel, one of the home arts instructors. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Lawrence Faculty Member to Entertain at Christmas Tea

MISS LA TOURETTE STOCKWELL, member of the Lawrence college faculty, will entertain at a tea this afternoon at Peabody house for the students who live at that dormitory and for a few faculty friends. She has asked some of the girls to pour for her. It will be in the nature of a Christmas party, with the singing of carols as the principal entertainment.

Mrs. Otto Kress, 707 W. Front street, entertained 12 guests at a bridge party Wednesday at her home.

Rosemary Hoffman, 1016 Bell avenue, entertained at a supper party Monday night at her home on the occasion of her birthday anniversary. Guests were Agatha Coppers, Rosemary Lauder, Joan Lucke, Joan Van Roy, Mary Timmers, Shirley Cooney, Ruth Hendricks, Mary Pat Dauchert, Dolores Jenneman, Elaine Van Heuklon, Adele Vandenberg, Vivian Halloran, Elaine Sams, Betty Rae Mallby, Jean Schmidt, Charlotte Lund, Helen Weiland and Mary Ann Hoffman. After the 7 o'clock supper games were played, prizes going to Joan Van Roy, Shirley Cooney, Dolores Jenneman, Elaine Sams, Helen Weiland and Vivian Halloran. Mary Pat Dauchert was awarded a special prize.

Mrs. Erna Loeper, Mrs. Carl Goldberg and Mrs. E. Beck will be chaperons at the weekly dance to be given by Sons of the American Legion Friday night at the Legion club house. Dance pupils of Vesper Chamberlin will give a program.

The last of a series of open card parties sponsored by Christian Mothers society of St. Mary church will take place at 2:30 Friday afternoon at Columbia hall. Schafskopf and bridge will be played.

Girls who have been with the Wisconsin Michigan Power company for 10 years or longer were honored at a dinner party given for them by the company Wednesday night at the Candle Glow Tea room. Court waltz was played after the dinner, honors going to Miss Eleanor McManney, Mrs. Altha Sellers, Miss Meta Erdmann, Miss Lydia Hollenbeck and Miss Josephine Hench. Fifteen were present.

Mrs. Clayton Wilson will be ticket chairman for a benefit card party to be given by the troop of Girl Scouts of Troop 2 of McKinley and Sacred Heart schools at 8 o'clock Friday night in the McKinley school auditorium. Mrs. Raymond Crotteau and Mrs. Clyde Cavert will be in charge of the lunch and Mrs. Peter Jacobs of games. Bridge, schafskopf and dice will be played.

Mrs. A. L. Werner and Mrs. Clyde Arlt won prizes at contract bridge.

Mrs. Barrows Elected Head Of Guild Unit

MRS. Thomas N. Barrows was elected president of the Appleton branch of the Needlework Guild of America at its first annual meeting Wednesday morning at her home on S. Union street. Other officers named were Mrs. Alden Megrew, vice president; Mrs. Lincoln Thiesmeyer, treasurer; and Mrs. Clarence Hockins, secretary. Organized here this fall, the Guild works in competition to no other charity but cooperates with all of them. The annual contribution of two or more new articles of wearing apparel or household linen constitutes membership. Garments for this year will be collected Dec. 16.

Mrs. H. Nagel and Mrs. William Klahorst won prizes at schafskopf at the meeting of the Eagles Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Herman Rehlander, W. Packard street. Ten members were present. Plans were made for a Christmas party Dec. 21.

Over the Teacups club will meet Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. R. K. Wolter, 518 N. Vine street. Mrs. Joseph Koffend and Mrs. R. A. Knapp will present the program.

Alpha Chi chapter of St. Mary Springs Academy alumnae will supply Christmas cheer for a needy family, according to plans made at a supper meeting last night at Copper Kettle restaurant. Hostesses were the Misses Constance Flanagan and Frances Barrett.

Bridge was played after the supper and prizes were won by Miss Margie Hall, Mrs. A. M. Bachhuber of Kaukauna and Miss Dolores Jacobs. The next meeting will be Jan. 11.

Raymond Regal of Weyauwega Takes Bride at Fairmont

Gust Regal, route 2, Weyauwega, and his daughter, Mrs. Harvey Steinberg, route 1, Weyauwega, were in Fairmont, Minn., Tuesday to attend the wedding that day of the former's son, Raymond, and Miss Laura Detert, daughter of William Detert, Fairmont. The wedding took place at the home of the bride's father. The couple was attended by the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Harvey Steinberg, and the bride's brother, Emil Detert, Fairmont.

Mr. Regal met his bride while he was employed on her father's farm during the last year. The couple will return to Wisconsin the latter part of this week to make their home on the farm of the bridegroom's father, route 2, Weyauwega. Mr. and Mrs. Gust Regal, the bridegroom's parents, will move to the village of Weyauwega.

Valparaiso Guild Will Hold Christmas Party

A Christmas party will entertain members of Valparaiso Guild at 7:30 Friday night at the home of Mrs. A. H. Blankenburg, W. Oklahoma street. Assistant hostesses will include Mrs. Fred Jantz, Mrs. Martha Hoyer, Miss Irene Mueller and Miss Martha Lueckel.

Ease CHEST COLD misery First massage throat, chest, and back with Vicks VapoRub at bedtime. This relieves the distress. Then, to make its long-continued poultice-and-vapor action last even longer, spread a thick layer of VapoRub on the chest and cover with a warm cloth. This also gives the skin extra protection against chilling. Long after retiring, keep your chest and back covered with VapoRub. It keeps on working—loosens phlegm—eases muscular soreness or tightness—clears air passages—checks tendency to cough—relieves local congestion. Often, by morning the cold is over.

'Dot', College Play, Emerges From Three Famous Writings

DIRECTOR F. THEODORE CLOAK's version of the forthcoming college play, "Dot," scheduled at the Memorial chapel for next Monday and Tuesday evening, is unique in many ways. Unlike the usual method of playing from a script book which is stereotype in form and language, Cloak has devised an original transformation of three other manuscripts from which emerges the novel pattern of "Dot."

Not content with any single copy, Cloak spent a great deal of time in collecting three famous writings, rewriting them, adding to one, subtracting from another, transposing scenes and characters until he had uncovered a brilliant portrayal of holiday drama.

First of the three writings which Cloak edited to produce "Dot" was a prompter's copy which belonged to J. L. Toole, famed American stage star, and is dated 1871. It was obtained through the courtesy of Samuel French of London, photographed and returned to England. Cloak then discovered a manuscript owned by the New York public library which included notes in Dion Boucicault's own hand. Boucicault, the author of "Dot," had written these for the use of a professional company playing in Syracuse, N. Y. He had photostatic copies made of these, and returned them to the library.

Runners-Up in High School Declamation Will Compete Monday

Comedy as well as more serious drama are in store for the students of Appleton High school when the runners-up in the declamatory tryouts present their readings for the student assembly Monday afternoon in the auditorium.

Mary Bobb Knapp's choice is "For Valor" by Samuel Davenport, a dramatic reading dealing with a court martial. "Sisters in Society" by Weeta Hulse Black is a comic declamation which Virginia Nabbeleld will present.

A family's difficulty with a young boy's date is the theme of "Junior's First Date" by Fannie Collins Vice. Merrie Ebert's reading, Cecilia Speel will present a cutting from the well-known Christmas story, "The Little Mixer," by Lillian Nicholson Shearon. Miss Kathryn Fralish, speech instructor, is coaching the girls.

Mt. Olive Aid Society Names New Officers

MR. Herbert Christensen was elected president of Mt. Olive Ladies Aid society at a meeting following a Christmas luncheon Wednesday afternoon in the church parlors. Mrs. W. O. Gruett was named vice president, Mrs. A. Leeman, secretary, and Mrs. H. Kuhn, treasurer.

Poinsettias decorated the tables for the luncheon which was attended by 100 members. Santa Claus visited the gathering and distributed gifts. Hostesses were Mrs. Melvin Knake, chairman; Mrs. Roland Bleick, Mrs. Ray Spangenberg, Mrs. Alfred Giese, Mrs. Lloyd Doerfler, Mrs. R. C. Ballstadt, Mrs. Max Koletzke, Mrs. Louis Bleick, Mrs. W. H. Jahnke, Mrs. Henry Kuhn, Mrs. Herman Zschachner, Mrs. Bernard Bohm and Mrs. William Horn.

Election of four members to the council of Mt. Olive Lutheran church for a period of three years will take place at the congregational meeting Friday night at the church. A congregational dinner will be served at 6:30 and the meeting will begin about 7:15. Mrs. Armin Knake is dinner chairman.

Women of Zion Lutheran church served between 600 and 700 persons at dinner and supper yesterday at the annual Christmas sale in the parish school auditorium. Mrs. Fred Hoffman was general chairman of the sale which was sponsored by Zion Lutheran Mission society.

A talk on India by John Q. Hansen is scheduled for the social meeting of the Men's club of Memorial Presbyterian church at 8 o'clock Friday night at the church. Dr. H. K. Pratt, president of the club, is general chairman of the meeting and A. W. Bohn has charge of refreshments.

Wisconsin's Health

BY DR. C. A. HARPER, State Health Officer

The action of the Chippewa county supervisors in creating the office of a county nurse brings to 58 the number of Wisconsin's 71 counties which are providing the public health service offered by these workers.

This leaves only 13 of our counties not receiving this service, and it is as unlikely for them as that number would indicate, to the superstitious.

Because some of these counties are very thinly populated, the total state population not served by county nurses is only 7 percent of the entire population, which speaks very well indeed for the people's support of public health principles.

Under the present state and federal financial aids, no county should be without a county nurse, for she is the central figure in any program aimed at improving child health conditions.

In school and home the county nurse works to make life happier and more prosperous for children. She is not a physician, but she is a registered nurse, and has been trained to recognize cases that need a physician's care.

Every time a pupil is absent from a public school a certain amount of tax money goes for naught, and the pupil falls behind in his studies. The county nurse's program aims to keep the children fit for school throughout the year, and the nurse does a mighty good job of carrying out her part.

Her efforts are not confined to the health of the children, for she is the friend and helper of every member of the family, and she works along educational lines with mothers, especially, to raise the level of both maternal and child health.

Hilbert Residents at John Schmidt Funeral

Hilbert — Those from Hilbert and vicinity who attended the funeral of John Schmidt, 66, at 9:30 Monday morning at the Catholic church at Thorpe were George Kioeppe and son Mike, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Weber, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Weber, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Schmidt and Peter Benschawel; Mrs. Matt Moehe, Stockbridge; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Fletcher, Green Bay; Mrs. Victor Brantmeier, Greenleaf; William and John Schmidt, Sherwood. Mr. Schmidt was born Dec. 25, 1871, at the Schmidt homestead, three miles west and one mile north of Hilbert. He grew to manhood here and was married, Nov. 22, 1888, to Minnie Broeren at Hollandtown. They moved soon afterward to Thorpe, where they had since resided.

Survivors are the widow; two sons, William, Chicago, and Frank, Thorpe; three daughters, Sophia, Caroline and Jean, at home; four brothers, Joe and William, Sherwood; Fred and George, Thorpe; three sisters, Mrs. Mike Weber and Mrs. George Kioeppe, Hilbert, and Miss Sophia Schmidt, Milwaukee. Burial was in the family lot in the parish cemetery at Thorpe.

HELP KIDNEYS PASS 3 LBS. A DAY

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning show there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

An excess of acid or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorder, may be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headache and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisons from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

MOVING SOON TO WAUWATOSA

Christmas in a new home awaits Mrs. Randall Swanson, 531 N. Vine street, and her 2-year-old daughter, Julie, shown here. Mrs. Swanson's new position as Milwaukee county agricultural agent makes necessary her family's moving to that county, and they will leave here about Dec. 20 to make their home at Wauwatosa. Mrs. Swanson has been active in the Appleton branch of the American Association of University women and the Alpha Chi Omega alumnae club. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Aldermen Adopt Plans to Remodel, Erect Buildings

lief department. The present walls of the building will be left intact except in the middle of the second floor where the council chambers will be located.

The plans have been approved by the state industrial commission and the Chicago office of PWA as has the proposed wage scale. LeVee said. He stated the wage scale was drawn by himself and Charles Debenack, president of the Building and Trades council. Efforts to promote a 10 to 20 per cent reduction in the wage rates, because the work will be done during the winter, were defeated by the unions, he said.

The following hourly wage scale was approved by the council: carpenters, $1; cement finishers, $1.25; concrete mixer operator, 75 cents; electricians, 80 cents; glaziers, 75 cents; iron workers, $1.37; masons, $1.25; mason helpers, 65 cents; general labor, 60 cents; lather, $1.05; mortar mixer, 75 cents; painters, 90 cents; plasterers, $1.25; plumbers, $1; roofers, 75 cents; sheet metal workers, 90 cents; steam fitters, $1; tile setters, $1.25; truck drivers, 65 cents; terrazzo workers, $1.25; and terrazzo helpers, 80 cents.

Approve PWA Garage

The council approved the plans and voted to advertise for bids for the $11,000 PWA garage and workshop project at the sewage treatment plant. The wage scale set up is the same as for the city hall job with these additions: bricklayers, $1.25; asbestos workers, $1; and caulkers and varners, $1.

Albert Wickesberg, city engineer who collaborated with C. O. Baetz, superintendent of the plant, in drawing the plans, reminded the council of the short time left in which to iron out details so that the project could be started by Jan. 1, according to PWA regulations.

He said bids will be received by the board of public works at 8 o'clock Saturday morning, Dec. 23 and that he expected to have the work started by Dec. 28. Wickesberg left this morning to seek the state industrial commission's approval of the plans and to report to PWA in Chicago.

The building will be 50 feet long and 32 feet wide with room for four cars if necessary. It will have a 20-foot basement in which to store materials and a workshop will be built on the ground floor along with the garage stalls. The structure will be of brick construction.

Tax Ordinance

An ordinance extending the time for the payment of 50 per cent of real estate taxes and some special assessments was ordered published by aldermen. The ordinance is the same as the one passed earlier this year except that it includes special assessments that are not bonded.

Half the taxes due on March 1 could be extended up to July 31. Extended taxes would bear an interest charge of 1 per cent. If not paid by July 31, the taxes would be declared delinquent.

Aldermen adopted an ordinance providing that in the future the polls in Appleton will open at 7 o'clock in the morning and close at 7 o'clock in the evening on election day instead of at 6 o'clock in the morning and 8 o'clock in the evening. The ordinance was adopted previous to the November election but was rescinded because notices regulating the time of opening and closing had been posted in all the precincts.

Two ordinances, one setting a special club beer license at $10 and the other a special club liquor tax at $25, were adopted. In the past, clubs and fraternal organizations which sold beer and liquor did not need a license. However, state inspectors forced adoption of the ordinance under a state law.

Award Contract

The Koepke Construction company offered the low bid and was awarded the contract to furnish 2,200 feet of 36-inch concrete sewer pipe at $6.70 and 1,100 feet of 24-inch concrete pipe at $1.70. Higher offers were submitted by the Lock Joint Pipe company, the Badger Concrete company and the Wisconsin Concrete Pipe and Culvert company.

The only argument of the evening was raised when Fourth ward Aldermen Brautigam and Knutj succeeded in promoting the installation of half-price sewers on Lee street between Newberry street and Candee street.

Alderman Vanderheyden objected to the use of relief labor on the project because, he said, the entire city had to pay for the labor and the property owners in the Fourth ward got the benefit. Alderman Vanderheyden, Keller and Kubitj voted against installing the sewer.

Widen Lee Street

A resolution by Alderman Keller to widen Lee street from Newberry street to Candee street and to condemn abutting property if necessary was referred to the street and bridge committee and the city attorney.

The council adopted a resolution obligating the city to pay the taxes due the state and county if the city treasurer failed to do so. The resolution was passed in lieu of the usual surety bond on the treasurer and saves about $500 for the city, it was explained.

The Wisconsin Telephone company was given permission to bury telephone wires on W. Packard street from N. Superior street to N. Clark street.

The Appleton Tavern association's request that the council limit the number of taverns in the city to one for each 750 of population was referred to the police and license committee. The request was signed by Anton Koehne, secretary of the association. In the letter submitted to the council, the association pointed out that it was "in the best interests of society that the number of taverns in the city should be limited. The group proposed that the

Irving Berlin's Wife Gets Third Of Mackay Estate

Will Reveals Communications Magnate, Daughter Were Reconciled

Minneapolis, N. Y.—The will of the late Clarence H. Mackay testified anew today that the communications magnate had become reconciled to the marriage of his daughter Ellen, to Irving Berlin, tin pin alley's star graduate.

The wedding more than a decade ago startled New York society circles and led Mackay, head of the vast Postal Telegraph cable empire and one of the nation's most prominent Catholic laymen, to vow he would "never forgive or forget."

But his heart softened after his mother's death a few years later, and in his will filed for probate yesterday he bequeathed to Mrs. Berlin one-third of his residuary estate.

The size of the estate was not made public. At one time Wall street circles had rated the Mackay family fortune—founded originally on rich Nevada gold and silver mines—at more than $100,000,000.

Mackay, who died Nov. 12, left his widow, the former Anna Case of the Metropolitan opera, $50,000 in cash, $2,000,000 in securities and the furnishings of his town home.

The other two-thirds of the residuary estate was divided between his other children, John Mackay and Mrs. Robert Z. Hawkins, divorced wife of New York state supreme court Justice Kenneth O'Brien.

In a codicil Mackay left $25,000 each to his eight grandchildren, including Mrs. Berlin's three children, and made numerous minor bequests to friends and old employees.

Although he had given millions to philanthropies, he made no provisions for charities in his will.

"I have donated liberally and desire that my beneficiaries and legatees be free to do likewise without special suggestion from me," he said in the will, dated July 30, 1935.

council grant no new licenses except to present operators.

Defer Appointment

Alderman Vanderheyden's motion to suspend appointment of an alderman to succeed Alderman Steinhauer, who died recently, until the April election was referred to the city attorney to determine its legality.

Permission was granted the water commission to furnish water for fire protection to the town of Menasha for $150 per year and to the town of Grand Chute for $500 per year. The water rate was based on the value of property that will be protected.

Installation of a water main on W. Summer street from Linwood avenue to Badger avenue was authorized by aldermen.

Bartenders' licenses were granted to Thomas C. McGilligan, 825 E. Pacific street; Walter Murphy, 715 E. Fremont street; and Ronald F. Westphal, Hotel Appleton. A special club license to sell beer and liquor was granted to the Appleton Eagles association, 119 E. Washington street.

The purchase of two reproductions of the bicycle safety film, "Handle Bar Hazards," from the Koch Photo shop for $150 was authorized.

The following recommendations of the street and bridge committee were approved: That a sanitary sewer be built on Walden avenue from Dewey street to Tracy street in the spring and that the city engineer prepare the plans; that plans for a storm sewer on Locust street from Locust street to Mason street from Badger avenue to Oklahoma avenue be approved.

$750,000 Libel Suit Filed Against Ickes By Texas Attorney

Washington —(AP)—A $750,000 libel suit was filed against Secretary Ickes Wednesday by John D. Glass, Tyles, Texas, lawyer and former chief investigator of Federal Petroleum Agency No. 1. The agency comes under Ickes' jurisdiction.

Glass asked the federal district court to award him $250,000 actual damages and $500,000 as punishment to the Interior secretary because of a memorandum which Glass claimed defamed him.

The memorandum, Glass said in his petition to the court, "advised and warned oil operators to investigate the plaintiff."

He added that the memorandum "made false and defamatory statements to the effect that the plaintiff had been prevented and barred from practicing before the federal tender board because he had sold or attempted to sell confidential knowledge which he previously obtained when employed by the government."

Mrs. Henry Schaub's Chosen Noble Grand Of Brillion Lodge

Brillion—The annual election of officers of Anna Rebekah Lodge 154, was held at the I. O. O. F. hall on Tuesday evening. Officers for the next year are: Mrs. Henry Schaub, noble grand; Mrs. Henry Becker, vice grand; Miss Harriet Andrews, secretary; Mrs. Arthur Radloff, treasurer; and trustee for a three year term.

Mrs. Peter Hansen was again recommended by the lodge as deputy for the coming year. At Tuesday evening's meeting it was decided to make a donation toward the Salvation Army drive. Plans were also made for the lodge to send the usual Christmas gifts to the orphans at the Odd Fellows home at Green Bay.

Brillion High school class of 1928 will observe its tenth anniversary of graduation by having a reunion at Hotel Brillion on Tuesday, Dec. 27. The evening will begin with a 7 o'clock banquet which will be followed by a program being prepared by Allan Barnard of Monroe, president of the class. Plans have already been completed and invitations were sent this week to the members of the class and their husbands, wives or friends.

The committee in charge of arrangements for the reunion consists of Mrs. Le Roy Klein, chairman, assisted by Martin Jooss, Kermit Seehawer and Mrs. Robert Goldsmith all of Brillion.

This is the second reunion the class has had since graduation. The class of 1928 consisted of 29 members. Of this number one is deceased.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Peters entertained guests at a 6:30 dinner at their home Saturday evening. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Seip, Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Worrell, Dr. and Mrs. A. J. Wagner and Dr. and Mrs. W. G. Schiele.

Mrs. Joseph Pritzl was hostess to the members of her five hundred club at her home Monday evening.

Wet, Damp Snow Descends Today; Colder Tonight

Traffic Slowed; 3 Christmas Arches on Avenue Break

Windshield wipers toiled wearily, traffic moved slowly on slushy streets, youngsters revelled in snowball fights, and citizens bent industriously over shovels today as wet, heavy snow, started at go-to-work time this morning, fell ceaselessly on the city.

Old man winter laid a heavy hand on the handsome Christmas arches that span College avenue and pushed three of them down this morning. One arch, anchored to the top of the Joseph Joslyn fruit store at 311 E. College avenue, pulled bricks off the building as it fell.

Louis Luebke, city electrician, headed a crew that was busy this morning and afternoon knocking snow off the arches with long poles. He estimated at from 400 to 500 pounds of snow clung to each arch.

It will be impossible to restore the festoon which fell from the Joslyn building but the two others, one at the Durkee street intersection and the other running from the Appleton State bank to the Elite theater, will be repaired, Luebke said.

Cars Covered

People who left their cars parked outdoors any length of time today returned to find the machines covered with the thick, soggy snow. Mild temperatures partially melted the snow on streets and sidewalks, leaving soupy slush.

Cloudy and colder was the forecast issued today by the Milwaukee weather bureau. The thermometer atop the Post-Crescent building registered 35 degrees at 12:30 this afternoon. For the 24-hour period ended at 9 o'clock this morning, the highest mark in the city was 33 and the lowest 28, according to charts at the Wisconsin Michigan Power company plant.

The county highway commission office reported that plows and power graders were operating throughout the county today and that hills and curves made slippery by the damp snow are being sanded. All highways were in good condition this afternoon.

Wires Undamaged

An official of the Wisconsin Michigan Power company said early this afternoon the snow was not endangering power lines and that no wire breakage had been reported.

Appleton High school students who depend on bikes for transportation had trouble pedaling through the slushy streets today and those who go without caps or hats returned home at noon with snow-covered heads. The heavy snowstorm quieted talk of a "green Christmas" which was induced by recent rains.

Snow fell in the northwestern part of the middle west today and spread southeastward into northern Illinois and Indiana and portions of Michigan, the Associated Press reported.

Forecaster J. R. Lloyd of Chicago, described the fall as light to moderate but said snow last night in Michigan measured six inches at Frankenmuth. Today's snow was centered over Wisconsin, western upper Michigan, Iowa and southeastern Minnesota.

Appleton Man Fined For Drunken Driving

Green Bay—Norman Brown, 31, 307 W. Prospect avenue, Appleton, was fined $50 and costs of $13.98 after pleading guilty of drunken driving in municipal court here Wednesday.

Brown was arrested after running off Highway 57 in the town of Scott about 12 miles north of Green Bay at 10 o'clock Tuesday night.

The defendant told the court he was returning from Sturgeon Bay, stopped for a lunch, and had a few drinks.

He was not injured in the crash, and no other car was involved.

Army and Navy in Attempt to Guard Military Secrets

New Rules Issued to Safeguard Forts, Planes and Warships

Washington—The army and navy are quietly tightening the lid on military secrets, in preparation for speeding the administration's national defense program.

New rules to safeguard forts, warships and planes, indications of a closer tab on aliens in aircraft plants, and a recent hint by President Roosevelt that more funds would be sought from congress to combat spies gave evidence today of increased caution.

Military circles heard that regulations were nearing completion to keep unauthorized map-makers and photographers away from army posts, naval vessels and aircraft.

Some aliens on whom suspicion rested have been charged in recent months or transferred from plants making warplanes for the army and navy, informed persons said.

Since 1926 aliens have been able to work on military aircraft orders only by official permission. Now such permits are more difficult to obtain and are issued for only a few months at a time.

Congress has included in most appropriation bills a provision that salaries paid out of the appropriations be given only to American citizens or to persons who had filed citizenship papers.

Support for increased armaments came from Senator Norris (I-Neb.), who said he approved them, although reluctantly, because world conditions made them a "matter of compulsion."

DEATHS

STANLEY STAY

Cancel Scheduled Increase in Milk Price to Producers

The state department of agriculture and markets cancelled a scheduled 3-cent increase in the producer's price on fluid milk to the dealers in the Appleton market by amending its order of June 30 which provided for the increase from 55 to 58 cents per pound of butterfat effective as of Nov. 1, it was announced today.

Dealers in the Appleton area petitioned for elimination of the increase clause in the order and a hearing was held on the petition at the courthouse recently. Testimony showed that both the dealers and producers agreed to continue the 55-cent price.

to take the controversy out of Judge Reis' hands entirely.

The supreme court denied this petition but left the way open for a possible further action under the procedure which permits a citizen to file a prerogative writ to determine whether state officials, involved in a dispute such as the current one, are obeying the constitution.

Judge Reis handed down his decision last Tuesday, upholding the legality of the law of 1929 which changed the state emergency board to include the governor and the chairman of the legislative joint finance committee. He also ruled that the 1937 legislature acted legally in delegating to the emergency board the authority to release or withhold certain appropriations made conditionally in the budget act.

Judge Reis later issued a peremptory writ for payment of the entire $6,635,582 when the special counsel representing Dammann and Levitan waived any further questions before the circuit court.

The attorneys appointed by Governor LaFollette to represent the emergency board were Harold M. Wilkie, Madison, and Harold E. Stafford, Chippewa Falls. Special counsel for Dammann and Levitan were James McPhee, Stanley, and Charles Hansen, Milwaukee.

Council Slashes City Tax Rate to $21 for New Year spite a certain increase to 18 councilmen.

The recreational budget was boosted from $2,500 to $5,500, an increase of $3,000 to install lights at the Spencer street athletic field. The sum of $1,000 will go for the operation of the municipal swimming pool and the remainder for miscellaneous recreational items.

Although the relief department asked for $62,400 for next year, aldermen again slashed the amount to $40,000. The council knows relief will cost more than that amount but was reluctant to levy taxes for that purpose. The difference will be paid out of savings from other funds. The same amount was levied for relief this year.

The city treasurer was given $3,500 for the operation of his department, a reduction of $100; the city clerk received $4,600, the same amount as this year; the city assessor and the board of review were granted $5,300, the same as last year. The assessors budget request was $5,880 to take care of salary increases and to pay aldermen for attending board of review sessions.

The auditing account was hiked $60 to $360, the actual cost of the work and the city attorney was given $2,200, the same amount he received this year. The sum of $300 was added to the account for official printing making the total $2,300, the sum paid for that purpose this year.

May Buy Oiler
The account for new equipment was raised $1,500 to $5,000 because the city intends to buy a new oiler and several other items next year.

The account for the repair and operation of equipment was boosted from $8,000 to $10,000 to more nearly meet the amount spent each year for that purpose.

The sums of $7,000 for dumps and clean-up and $8,000 for bridge repair and maintenance, $4,000 for sewer and catch basin maintenance, $8,000 for snow removal, $900 for ground rental, $1,500 for weed cutting, and $200 for tax rebate were the same as the amounts appropriated for those accounts this year.

An estimate of $5,000 was set aside in the budget to cover the city's share of paving costs next year. This year, the same amount was appropriated but the city spent about $18,000. However, more streets were paved this year than it is intended to pave in 1939. The total cost of paving this year was $73,382 of which $50,116 was returned in special assessments.

$5,000 For Sewers
Set aside for new sewers was $3,000 the same as this year. The total cost of sewers this year was $9,397 of which $3,328 was paid by property owners. Street department building operations estimate was hiked from $1,000 to $1,500 to cover costs of improvements to the department building.

An increase of $2,000 was placed in the budget for street cleaning bringing the total to $10,000. The department spent $10,510 for the work this year.

Street repair and maintenance cost the city this year about $14,835 so the council set aside $14,500 for that purpose, an increase of $4,500 over this year's $10,000 appropriation.

Teacher Seeking Redress for Being Ousted by Board

Fired Because He Read From Books Members Considered Indecent

Portland, Ind.—A crippled 25-year-old school teacher sought legal redress today from a small-town school board which he said ousted him from his first teaching job because he read to his high school pupils from books the board considered indecent and tending to corrupt the children's morals.

Walter R. Phinney, suing school trustees of Redkey, country town of 1,370 persons near here, charged they broke his contract by forcing him to resign. He asks $1,000 damages, the amount of his salary for the present eight-month term.

The trustees are Ralph Rex, Max Coble and Clement L. Arthur. They objected, Phinney alleges, to chapters in Carl Carmer's "Stars Fell on Alabama" and W. E. Woodward's "A New American History," both literary guild selections. Phinney had read from the books and lent them to pupils.

Phinney's suit, drawn up by Lawyer Clarence E. Benadum of Muncie, was filed in Jay circuit court here yesterday. The teacher says the trustees called him into a school-room after school last Oct. 19, read the books and then told him to write out his resignation, threatening to make his reputation "black as hell" unless he did.

They contended, he says, that passages from chapters in Carmer's book on "The Tale of the Stud Nigger" and "Seven Sisters' Manual of Voodoo Conjurings" and in Woodward's history on the Salem witchcraft trials were "vile, obscene and indecent" and would "corrupt the morals and conduct" of his pupils.

Phinney said he resigned but went back two hours later and asked the trustees to return the resignation so he might destroy it. He said they refused and that they declined to put their charges in writing or give him a public hearing.

Phinney's complaint denies books he circulated were indecent. The teacher, who is an infantile paralysis victim and walks with a cane, attended Ball State teachers' college on Saturdays to study toward a master's degree. Since he lost the teaching job, he says, he has been out of work.

The budget for street oiling was left at $500.

Another $10,872 was spent this year to install new and repair old walks, the council set aside only $2,000 for that purpose next year. The sum of $7,883 will be returned to the city in special assessments against property owners. Then new walks will cost less next year compared to last summer when many new walks were built in the vicinity of the new high school.

Budgets Higher
An added $1,000 making $30,000 was budgeted for street lighting to take care of the cost of electrical energy for the many new lights installed during the year. Hydrant rental was boosted from $46,000 to $46,500 because of new hydrants installed.

A new item was added to the budget this year, that of building inspection. The building inspector was given $1,900 to run his department next year. The plumbing inspector received $1,650, an increase of $50, to cover his expenses next year.

The city engineer's department budget was set at $7,000, the same as last year while the budget for the electric department was boosted $2,700 to $3,100 because that is what it cost to run the department this year.

The budget for elections was set at $2,500, a reduction of $1,500. This year $4,000 was appropriated because there were two elections, one in the spring and one in the fall. Next year, there will be only a spring election. The amount set aside for claims remained at $1,000.

City Hall Operation
For the operation of city hall, $4,100 again was appropriated. The health department's budget was set at $7,700, the same as this year and the city sealer of weights and measures budget was boosted from $2,200 to $2,500.

An additional $400 was placed in the account for unemployment insurance making a total of $1,500 to take care of the normal increases in payments. Other items in the city budget are: Memorial day, $200; board of appeals, $25; WPA projects, $15,000; Wisconsin Employment Service, $740; and artillery band, $1,500. Nothing was appropriated for fireworks although the council spent $300 for that purpose this year.

The library board again received $18,000 and the same amount was set aside for operation of city parks $18,000. The sum of $10,363 was estimated to pay the water works commission for installation of water mains and other items during 1939. Bonds and interest next year will total $108,082, an increase of about $1,800. The council set aside $4,502 to pay into the firemen's pension fund, an increase of about $500.

Pay Zuehlke
The council decided to pay off the entire amount due to the Zuehlke property and set up $8,976 for that purpose. The city had been paying the money off at the rate of about $1,100 per year.

In 1939 the city will receive $74,500 from the Wisconsin Michigan Power company and $10,500 from the Wisconsin Telephone company.

WIFE SEEKS TO END EXILE

Mrs. Grover Cleveland Bergdoll and four of her children, standing, left to right, Alfred Minna and Anna, and Erwin, seated, are shown as they sailed from New York for Germany. She said she would urge her husband to return to the United States and serve his five-year sentence as a World War draft-dodger. They traveled on a German passport that carried a notation "The owner of this passport is not a citizen of Germany."

Menasha Man Injured When Auto Tips Over

Eugene Funk, 404 De Pere street, Menasha, suffered bruises about the head and a lacerated finger when he lost control of his car and it left the road and turned over early this morning about a mile west of Darboy, according to a report given Menasha police. Funk was driving to Menasha when the accident occurred. The car was badly damaged.

Asks World-Wide Church Council

Would Enable Christians To Express Unity on Argued Points

Buffalo, N. Y.—A delegate to a national churchmen's convention proposed today the formation of a world-wide council of churches which could "speak with authority on world problems."

Dr. William Adams Brown of Union Theological seminary, chairman of the department of relations abroad, presented the proposal to the Federal Council of Churches at its biennial meeting.

"The world council of churches," he explained, "will seek to find a way in which Christians who are united in some things but divided in others can express their unity at the points at which they now agree. . . . such a body would be able to speak with authority on world problems. . . . take joint action. . . and be a symbol to express the existing unity of Christians."

Dr. Brown described the proposed world organization as composed of 450 church representatives who would meet every five years and a central committee of 90, meeting annually.

Income tax returns are expected to be about $70,000 and state auto taxes $37,184. Special taxes will aggregate $33,203 and the amount to be paid to the city by the water department will be $75,500.

Other receipts include: state mileage of streets, $18,980; state maintenance of highways, $5,000; relief department, $13,000; state liquor taxes, $27,500; public grounds and buildings, $1,215; municipal court fees and fines, $2,000; Outagamie county for paving in the Fourth ward, $22,000; and Fremont and John street assessments, $10,600.

Income Sources
Estimated receipts for November and December this year include: Wisconsin Michigan Power company, $74,500; state auto taxes, $37,184; licenses and permits, $300; state maintenance of highways, $5,000; relief department, $6,810; rental from public grounds and buildings, $445; and municipal court fees and fines, $200.

Included in the levy is $70,000 for junior high school bonds; $17,100 for interest on junior high school bonds; $3,226.88 for Pierce park bonds and interest; $10,070 for the redemption of street improvement bonds; $9,787 for interest on sewage disposal plant bonds; and $11,205 for interest on the new senior high school bonds.

CHILD CHOKES TO DEATH
Evansville, Wis.—A 14-month-old Audrey Ann Whitehead choked to death on a piece of potato, a doctor here reported yesterday. The girl was the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Whitehead.

Admits Slaying Girl Student 'for No Reason at All'

California Railway Clerk Confesses Fatal Stabbing

Oakland, Calif.—Police reported today a young railway clerk confessed that "for no reason at all" he fatally stabbed Leona Vlught, 19, former University of California student, as they sat in his parked automobile in the Oakland hills after a 2 o'clock a. m. "date."

The clerk, Rodney Greig, 21, of Berkeley, was held on an open charge. Inspector C. R. Kunes said police expected to get a relative of the slain girl to sign a complaint today charging Greig with murder.

The case started out as a mystery yesterday when a mushroom hunter found the body of the pretty girl. Inspectors Lucien Jewell and Tom Duffy said Greig told this story:

Describes Killing
He and Miss Vlught drove into the hills and parked at a spot known as "Lovers' Lane."

"Leona was feeling low," Jewell quoted the clerk. "I picked up my hunting knife and pulled it out of the sheath and gave it to her and told her she didn't have nerve enough to use it. She handed it awhile, and made a few playful passes at me with it, and gave it back to me."

"Then for no reason at all, I let her have it. I don't know why, but I let her have it."

"I stabbed her once, in the breast and she just folded up. I wanted to make sure that she was out so I nicked her on the throat with the point of the knife three times—just touched her, easy, to see if she'd move. She didn't."

"So, I dragged her out of the car. . . . and drove away and left her there."

Jewell said officers traced Greig by tracks left by his automobile tires.

Foxhound Opens Its Mouth; Settles Suit

Charlestown, W. Va.—A foxhound settled a court fight by sticking out his tongue.

Earl Shafer and Charles Meadow claimed ownership of the dog. Shafer said the hound disappeared in 1935. Meadows said he bought it.

Then Shafer told the jury: "This dog tore his tongue running through bush after game and I had to cut the loose flesh away. It left a scar."

Taxpayers Ruin U. S. Railroads

Subsidizes Its Competitors, New Haven President Says

Boston—Asserting that taxpayers contribute two billion dollars a year to provide highways, airways and waterways for railroad competitors, Frank J. Wall, vice President of the New Haven railroad, said today the roads' problems "never will be solved" until that "subsidy" is discontinued.

"Some way must be found so the several forms of transportation which compete with the railroads will pay the full cost of the waterways, highways and airways and all other facilities they require which at present are provided at the expense of the taxpayers."

"There is nothing inherently wrong with the railroads," Wall said in an address prepared for the New England shippers' advisory board.

Jury Frees Yost From Charge of Drunken Driving

10 Witnesses Testify in Neenah Justice Court Trial

Neenah—Bruno Yost, 145 Ellen street, Neenah, charged with operating an automobile while intoxicated, was found not guilty by a justice court jury during a trial in the council room of the city hall Wednesday afternoon. Justice Gaylord C. Loehning, who presided, discharged the defendant.

Yost was arrested at 6:15 Saturday evening, Nov. 28, by Neenah police after his automobile and a machine driven by Howard Hare, 643 Second street, Menasha, were damaged in a collision at Nicolet boulevard and N. Commercial street.

A large amount of testimony was taken, 10 witnesses being called to testify, during the trial which lasted nearly 24 hours. A bit of humor was interspersed when Ben Beachkofski, bartender at the Twin City tavern, Menasha, was called as a witness for the defense. After taking the oath, the witness was asked his name. He replied, "Ben Beachkofski, but call me 'Beach'."

Other witnesses who testified for the defense were Yost, Hare, Ray Simon, an attendant at a service station near the scene of the accident; Ray Hinck, manager of a Menasha meat market; and Pete Succa, manager of another Menasha store. Witnesses for the city were Patrolmen Henry Kohfeldt, David Lager, Otis Hayes and A. G. Pruniski, Neenah city engineer.

Patrolmen testified that Yost was intoxicated when arrested, a few minutes following the accident. They contended that he staggered, his breath smelled of an intoxicating beverage, and that he was argumentative. Patrolman Lager made the arrest, and the defendant was confined in the city jail until 11 o'clock that night.

The defendant denied that he was intoxicated, claiming that he had only five beers throughout the afternoon. During the presentation of his testimony, the defendant outlined in detail his exact movements throughout the afternoon. He said he cashed his check and drank two beers at the Dug Out tavern, Neenah, early in the afternoon. Then he drove to a friends home, and not finding him there, returned to the Remick garage, Menasha. Yost is a truck driver for the Remick Transportation company. From the garage he went to the Twin City tavern, Yost testified, where he drank three beers in an hour. From the tavern, he said he went to a meat market and a grocery store where he called his girl friend and then started for Neenah. On his way to his girl friends home, he became involved in the collision.

CONSIDER 1939 BUDGET
Menasha—The common council met as a committee of the whole in a 3-hour session Wednesday night at the city office to consider the 1939 budget. The council has set next Monday night for an adjourned meeting at which the budget and tax rate for the city will be set.

The Twin Cities office of the Appleton Post-Crescent for its editorial, circulation and advertising departments is located at 510 N. Commercial street and the telephone number is 4100. News items, copy or orders for advertising and orders for subscriptions may be left at the office or may be telephoned. This number may be called before 7 o'clock in the evening.

COBRA PATROL WINS FIRST AID CONTEST

Menasha—Cobra patrol of Troop 29, one of the youngest troops in the Twin Cities, won the district first aid contest in Nicolet school Tuesday night, defeating four other patrol teams by a margin of over 25 points. The team will be eligible to compete in a valley council meet following five other district tests which will be held shortly. Shown above are members of the winning team. Left to right, they are Jim Hoffman, Earl De Long, Harold Maas and Jim De Long, all preparing to work on the fifth member of the team, Charles Heckner, who is already rather well bandaged. Intramural Cage Teams Organize At Menasha High

Six Senior High Squads Will Start Play Next Tuesday

Menasha—The intramural basketball league of Menasha High school will open play next Tuesday afternoon with nearly 60 boys competing on six teams. Organization of the league was completed this week. Leslie Ansoorge, physical education instructor, is in charge of the league.

All league games will be played on Tuesday afternoons, starting at 3:30 in the high school gymnasium. The public is invited to attend the games without any charge. The teams will be provided with colored jerseys so spectators can distinguish each team.

Dan Stommel will captain the Firestones. The eight members of the squad are Jack Crockett, Bill Imor, Elmer Zelinski, Harvey Swamp, Bill Gear, Dave Jedwabney, Richard Matern and Harold Meas.

Dave Buksky will captain the Pirates. His squad will include Elmer Landkron, Don Grode, Lawrence Kaczmarek, Ray Novakofski, Jack Gummerus, Don Clark and George Overby.

The first round schedule has been drawn by Mr. Ansoorge. Next Tuesday the Celtics will play the Firestones; the Globe Trotters will meet the Pirates and the Goodyears will play the Redskins.

The schedule for Jan. 3 will include Celtics vs. Goodyears; Firestones vs. Globe Trotters; Redskins vs. Pirates.

Kings Daughters to Provide Trees and Gifts for Children

Neenah—Trimming of one large Christmas tree and 17 small ones along with presents and candies will be the holiday gift of the Neenah-Menasha King's Daughters to the children of the Sunnyview preventorium. Mrs. Oscar Thompson is chairman of the committee in charge. Mrs. E. W. Atkins and Mrs. George Hinton, Appleton, are other members of the committee. All children whose birthday anniversaries occur this month also will be remembered with a special gift.

The holiday gift for the children is an annual project of the King's Daughters but is only a part of its program for the preventorium children. At each holiday time, Valentine's day, Halloween, Thanksgiving, and others, the committee remembers the children as well as during the month when someone celebrates a birthday anniversary.

Mrs. Spengler New President Of Twin City King's Daughters

Neenah—Mrs. Silas Spengler was named president of the Neenah-Menasha King's Daughters at the Wednesday afternoon meeting at the home of Mrs. Ronald Rogers, E. Forest avenue, Neenah. Mrs. E. P. Arpin Jr. was chosen first vice president; Mrs. E. W. Atkins, second vice president; Mrs. Gerald Flom, treasurer and Mrs. O. T. Thompson, assistant treasurer. The executive committee includes Mrs. C. W. Nelson and Mrs. James Bergstrom. The group planned to hold its meetings the first Wednesday of each month instead of the first Wednesday following the first Monday as has been the practice. Discussion of the project for giving Christmas baskets was principal business at the meeting. Thirty families will receive baskets.

Three of those baskets being the Junior King's Daughters' contribution. Mrs. Gavin Young, Jr., heads the committee which will wrap the toys for the baskets. Mrs. K. S. Sheppard announced that the Menasha Economics club had voted to bring toys to its Christmas meeting next week and would turn them over to the King's Daughters for the Christmas baskets. The group accepted the toys with "much gratitude."

B.B.B. society of First Congregational church will meet at 7:30 Friday evening in the church. Plans for a holiday party will be made.

The Lady Eagles will hold the annual Christmas party with exchange of gifts following the business session at which officers will be elected when a meeting is held at 8 o'clock Friday evening in Eagle hall.

At a meeting of the Good Fellowship club of Trinity Lutheran church Wednesday evening in the school hall, plans for Sylvester eve watch-night services were planned. Lorraine Christiansen was named to head the committee making arrangements for the service.

Group 2 of the Ladies society of First Congregational church, meeting Wednesday evening in the church, made plans to postpone its Christmas party scheduled for Dec. 14 to Dec. 21 because of a Menasha High school band concert scheduled for Dec. 14. Mrs. Anna Moran was hostess at Wednesday evening's meeting.

Art Lornson, Kate Moran, Ben Bolda, Mrs. Paul Vergutz and Louis Dennis won prizes in schafkopf at the Eagles card party sponsored Wednesday evening in Eagle hall. Another party is planned for Sunday afternoon.

Nicolet school Parent-Teacher association will hold its December meeting Tuesday evening, Dec. 20, with the children of the school presenting the program. Full particulars of the program will be released within a week.

Ladies society of Trinity Lutheran church will meet at 2:30 Friday evening in the school hall.

Twin City Catholic Daughters of America, Columbian party will hold the annual Christmas party for members at 6 o'clock Monday evening in the Knights of Columbus club rooms. A covered dish supper will precede the party. The annual donation for the orphanage will be made at the meeting and members will bring gifts for the children at the orphanage.

About 225 persons from the parish of St. Thomas Episcopal church attended the annual parish dinner Wednesday evening in the hall. St. Anne's Guild sponsored the dinner party.

Intramural Cage Leagues Formed

Shape Plans for Tournament at Neenah High School

Neenah—Leagues and teams which will compete in the Neenah High school intramural basketball league under the direction of Ole Jorgensen, physical education director and basketball coach, were identified at a meeting of the officers and board of control Wednesday afternoon.

The league which is composed of the oldest boys will be known as the Animal circuit with the following teams: Badgers, Gophers, Weavers, Bears, Lions and Tigers, while the circuit which is composed of the smallest boys will be called the Fish league with the following teams: Sharks, Wakes, Perch, Minnows, Carp and Suckers. The intermediate league will be the Bird circuit with the following teams: Hawks, Eagles, Falcons, Sparrows, Cardinals and Bluejays.

Adopt Regulations
Rules and regulations governing the league were adopted. A team captain is responsible for his players' conduct, and before a boy can

Neenah—Slippery streets were blamed for a collision between cars driven by Donald Kaatz, 715 Wisconsin avenue, and Harold Redlin, 121 E. Forest avenue, at 8 o'clock this morning at Washington and Elm street. The right side of the Kaatz car was caved in, and the other machine was badly wrecked.

Eagles Plan Party for Youngsters on Dec. 23

Menasha—The annual party for sons and daughters of members of the Menasha aerie of the Fraternal Order of Eagles will be held on Friday, Dec. 23, according to E. T. Jourdain, secretary of the order. The party will be held in the auditorium of the new high school. A suitable program will be arranged.

Snowy Streets Blamed For Traffic Accident

Neenah—Slippery streets were blamed for a collision between cars driven by Donald Kaatz, 715 Wisconsin avenue, and Harold Redlin, 121 E. Forest avenue, at 8 o'clock this morning at Washington and Elm street. The right side of the Kaatz car was caved in, and the other machine was badly wrecked.

Invite Public to Series of Three Breeding Schools

Meetings Will be Held at Winnebago County Courthouse

Menasha—A series of three breeding schools will be held in Winnebago county, according to R. C. Hefernan, Winnebago county agent. The first will be held Friday night with the second Jan. 5 and the third on Feb. 16. All will be held in the new court house building at Oshkosh.

The meetings will be open to dairymen, breeders and the general public. In the opinion of the county agent, the meetings are among the most outstanding events ever planned for the farmers of the county.

Dr. L. E. Casida and G. E. Dickerson will lead the discussion at the first meeting. Their talks will be illustrated with moving pictures and slides. Casida will discuss reproduction in dairy cattle while Dickerson will explain how inheritance for dairy characteristics is transmitted and measured.

Horse problems in general and sleeping sickness in particular, which first became serious in Winnebago county this summer, will be discussed at three meetings on Monday, according to the county agent. The meetings will be held at 9:30 in the morning at the Omro village hall, at 1:30 in the afternoon at the Algoma town hall and at 8:15 in the evening at the Allenville Grange hall. Dr. B. A. Beach will be present for the meetings. In addition to sleeping sickness other problems, such as collar fitting, internal parasites and soundness of horses will be discussed.

High herd of D. H. I. A. No. 5 for November was the John T. Miller herd of 19 cows, according to Adolph Henke, fieldman. The herd averaged 778 pounds of milk and 37.8 pounds of fat. The 14 grade Holsteins of Harold and Oscar Jones produced 813 pounds of milk and 31.7 pounds of fat on an average while the H. G. Henkel herd of 14 grade Guernsey cows averaged 557 pounds and 22.7 pounds of fat. The high cow was owned by Harold Jones and produced 1,644 pounds of milk and 64.12 pounds of fat.

The highest price for a cow reported in the county for several years has been recorded by the county agent. F. E. Bassett of Omro sold a registered Holstein to Walter Beier of Rush Lake for $300. The cow completed a 4-year-old record on twice a day milking in 267 days of 9,429 pounds of milk and 418.4 pounds of fat. Her average test was 4.4 per cent.

Corn cribs are being taxed to the limit on Twin Winnebago county farms this fall, according to the county agent. Information on the construction of cribs and temporary storage bins is contained in a college of agriculture publication, "Corn Storage in the Ever Normal Granary." Copies are available at the county agent's office.

Group Will Make Favors for Sick

Friendly Folks Club Plans Project for Women At Sunnyview

Menasha—Plans for making favors for a Christmas project for women at Sunnyview sanatorium, and the Christmas party for members Dec. 21, were discussed during the business session which followed the program at the Wednesday afternoon meeting of the Friendly Folks club in the Twin City Y.W.C.A.

Club members made plans to meet at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, Dec. 14, at the "Y" to make the favors. Mrs. A. L. H. will be taken to Sunnyview, Dec. 22. Girl Reserves will go to the sanatorium to present the Christmas holiday program that day. The favors will be completed following the dessert bridge and Christmas party of the club Dec. 21. Gifts will be exchanged at the party.

Mrs. Aaron Pontow who with Mrs. Oliver Kleon and Mrs. Ray Kehr were in charge of selecting a gift for the "Y," reported the purchase of 15 sugar, creamer, salt and pepper sets and two sets of kitchen bowls. Several other things for the kitchen are to be purchased.

Present 1-Act Play
Yesterday's program was featured by the presentation of a 1-act play by club members with Mrs. Ira Clough as director and Mrs. George Jaster as properties manager. The play was "The Last Christmas."

Mrs. Edwin Tyrivier, Mrs. Ray Kehr and Mrs. Oliver Kleon were the spinsters. Mrs. Paul Kuckenbecker took the role of Maggie, the maid. Three stranded stock show girls were played by Mrs. Darrell Buchanan, Mrs. Frank Thalke and Mrs. Louis Schmidt. Lou, the niece, was Mrs. Edward Hyland.

The cast will repeat the play Friday at the meeting of Circle 3 of the Ladies Society of First Presbyterian church, at the home of Mrs. Leo Schubert and again Thursday, Dec. 15, at the meeting of Circle 3 of the Methodist church Ladies society at the home of Mrs. Huber, 251 E. Doty avenue.

compete, he must sign a contract with the captain. Players must have their W. I. A. insurance cards. Trading of players may be done within each league, and a player may be shifted from a small boys' league to a larger boys' league, but he can't be demoted. Round robin tournaments will be played. A player who is penalized for roughness will be suspended from that game and the next league game.

46,000 Square Feet Of Sidewalk Poured In Project at Neenah

Neenah—More than 46,000 square feet of sidewalks and 2,634 linear feet of curbs and gutters were installed this summer under the city WPA project. Alderman Carl Loehning, chairman of the committee on streets, sidewalks and bridges, reported at the meeting of the city council last night at the city hall.

Following his report, the alderman said, "If we carry on this project for a few more years, Neenah will have the best sidewalk layout in Wisconsin."

The reports showed that there were 41,506 square feet of 4-inch sidewalks, 4,492 square feet of 6-inch sidewalks and 111 square feet of 2-inch sidewalks laid during the summer.

Hold Rehearsals For Programs at Menasha Churches

Young People, Choirs Make Plans for Christmas Events

Menasha—Rehearsals by young people and members of choirs of Menasha churches are being held weekly in preparation for Christmas programs to be presented within two weeks.

The Young People's Fellowship of St. Thomas Episcopal church will present the pageant, "Soldier of Bethlehem" at 7 o'clock Thursday evening, Dec. 22, prior to the annual Christmas party for the church school children at which gifts will be distributed.

Trinity Lutheran Sunday school will present its program Christmas eve, Dec. 24, in the church. Sunday school teachers are arranging for the program. Rehearsals are held at 1:30 Sunday afternoons.

Two Programs
Two Christmas programs are being planned at First Congregational church. The Christmas Candlelight service will be sponsored by the chorus choir at 7:30 Sunday evening, Dec. 18. Rehearsals are held each Wednesday evening.

Oscar Peterson, superintendent of the Sunday school has announced that the annual Christmas program of the Sunday school will be a White Gift and Candlelight Service Thursday evening, Dec. 22. Practices are held regularly. White gift offerings are to be brought to the church Sunday morning, Dec. 18.

In preparation for the midnight mass, choir of the three Catholic churches are holding rehearsals for their musical participation in the worship.

Norton J. Williams, Neenah, Named President of E. R. A. To Succeed Late Judge Karel

Dr. C. H. Williamson
Is Elected Vice President

Neenah—Norton J. Williams, Neenah, was elected supreme president of the Equitable Reserve association at a meeting of the trustees at the Pfister hotel, Milwaukee, Wednesday following the funeral of Judge J. C. Karel who had been supreme president for 18 years.

Williams who was vice president of the association will fill the unexpired term, and Dr. C. H. Williamson, Neenah, chief medical examiner, was named vice president to succeed Williams.

Mr. Williams, who is president of the Neenah board of education, has been an officer in the association since 1918 when he was elected Wisconsin state president. He was elected a supreme trustee of the E. R. A. in 1924 and to the vice presidency in 1926.

NAMED E. R. A. HEAD

A past district governor of the Kiwanis of Wisconsin and Northern Michigan and a former state president of Wisconsin of the Order of Moose, Mr. Williams is recognized as one of the outstanding fraternalists of the Badger state and of the National Fraternal congress. He is prominent in political and civic affairs of the state, and when he lived at Madison, he was elected chairman of the Dane county board.

Before joining the association, Mr. Williams was with the sales promotion department of the Gisholt Machine company, Madison, for 13 years and with the Democrat Printing company, Madison, as sales manager for four years. He is a director of the Northwestern Lutheran Theological seminary of Minneapolis and a director of the National Manufacturers bank, Neenah.

Dr. Williamson has been supreme medical examiner of the E. R. A. since 1912. A graduate of the medical school of the University of Michigan, Dr. Williamson is physician and surgeon for the Chicago and North Western railroad company and the Kimberly-Clark corporation, Neenah.

It was pointed out here today that the association has had only four changes in the office of supreme president for 41 years. F. T. Russell, Neenah paper manufacturer, was the first president, and he was followed by E. A. Williams, Neenah, and since the latter's death in 1920, Judge Karel, Milwaukee, had been the president.

Other officers are: Judge A. H. Goss, Oshkosh, past president; G. A. Comstock, Neenah, secretary; John S. Tolversen, Fuld, Minn., treasurer; W. G. Brown, Neenah, auditor; Charles F. Haight, Lansing, Mich., warden; Dr. M. A. Cunningham, Janesville, medical examiner; Benjamin Poss, Milwaukee, general attorney; Dio W. Dunham, Neenah, editor, and M. L. Ridgeway, Neenah, actuary.

7th Grade Girls Win Tank Contest

Hold First Swimming Meet in Menasha Senior High School

Menasha — The first swimming meet in the Menasha high school pool was held Wednesday afternoon for the Junior High school girls. Before an audience of nearly 65 students, 40 swimmers in grades 7 and 8 swam against each other with the seventh grade winning, 89 to 85.

Miss Isabel Douglas and Miss Myrene Plopper acted as judges. Miss Marjane Jex had charge of the meet.

In the 25-yard crawl stroke, Mary Pettigill gave the eighth grade a start by placing first. June Karrow of the seventh grade was a close second and third went to Elizabeth Eck of the eighth grade. In the 30-foot back crawl, Jeanette Jensen brought more honors to the eighth grade with a first while two seventh graders, Delphine King and Ruth Anderson, came in second and third, respectively.

Girl Reserves of 2 Cities Prepare For Yule Events

New Club Will be Organized at Neenah This Afternoon

Neenah—Girl Reserves of Neenah and Menasha are more than busy this week with preparations for Christmas plays and the hanging of the greens ceremonial.

A new club will be organized this afternoon to meet the requests of girls from Neenah high school. The Sub-Debs will hold white elephant sale and the Bank Knights will hold dress rehearsal. Helen Fahrback is adviser of the Sub-Debs. Bank Knights rehearsal will be under the direction of Evelyn Seedorf.

At 7 o'clock this evening, significant Sophomores, Evelyn Goehring, adviser, will meet to be instructed in the making of wreaths for the Christmas ceremony Sunday. Mrs. A. T. Hudson will be instructor.

Henry Jung will give a demonstration in make-up at the Drama and Broadcast Dabblers club meeting this evening at the "Y." The constitution of the club will be presented for ratification and the cast for the Christmas play will hold dress rehearsal.

Neenah Aldermen Again Defer Vote On Fireworks Law

Proposed Rule Would Limit Sale, Use to July 3 and 4

Neenah — Although an ordinance for controlling the sale and use of fireworks on Fourth of July was presented to the city council at its meeting last night, the council decided to defer action until the next meeting when five aldermen and Mayor Edwin A. Kalfans declared they were in favor of complete abolishment.

The proposed ordinance which was presented prohibited the selling or exposing for sale or the use of fireworks in the city except on July 3 and 4, and when the Fourth of July falls on Sunday, substituting July 4 and 5 instead.

Alderman John Heigl complained to the council about the extra cost for rewiring the Neenah library. The alderman said that when the job was completed, the cost was more than $450 above the contract price. He said that the extra equipment and added cost was made without the consent of the council.

Bill is Paid

The alderman pointed out that since the job has been completed and the bill paid, nothing can be done about it, but he stressed that it should be a "guide to the council in granting future appropriations outside of the budgets." He suggested that riders be added to future resolutions for appropriations limiting the amount which can be spent on a job.

Alderman Heigl reported that he had met with the library board during which he ascertained the reasons for the extras. He said that when the plans and specifications were drawn, installations of certain equipment wasn't foreseen. He also complained that the job wasn't complete, contending that holes left in the ceilings when the old fixtures were removed hadn't been patched. He also wanted to know what became of the old fixtures.

The five aldermen who said they were in favor of complete abolishment of the sale and use of fireworks were Andrew Andersen, James Andersen, Robert Martens, Carl Loehning and Edward Schultz while Heigl, Richard O'Brien and Walter Buschey were in favor of limiting the sale and use to two days. Alderman John Kunschke didn't comment, and Alderman Emil Harder was not present.

Alderman Andrew Andersen said that although he wouldn't oppose the proposed ordinance which was presented last night if nothing better was available, he said he doubted the possibility of enforcing it. Alderman Heigl suggested establishing a zoning ordinance around the library.

Committee to Report

The council overrode a motion by Alderman Martens to install a reflector buttons sign at the dead end of Church street near the channel of the Fox river and referred the matter to the committee on traffic and safety to investigate all dangerous dead end streets in the city and report back at the next meeting. Contending that without a proper signal at the dead end of Church street it was dangerous because a car might plunge into the channel, Alderman Martens wanted immediate action, but Alderman Loehning opposed Martens' motion, contending that all dangerous dead end streets should be equipped with signs. He mentioned that Third street since it has been extended about the Fox river, he contended it would be preferable to take care of all of them at once.

The aldermen decided to investigate personally three municipal matters Thursday afternoon. When Alderman Schultz reported that the sidewalk leading to the city tenement house adjacent to the city hall was dangerous because of the incline resulting from the lack of foundation under the porch, the council decided to view the premises to determine a remedy.

Plan Investigations

City Clerk Harry S. Zemlock read a petition requesting the council to open a street in the undeveloped plot of land south of the Neenah high school athletic field. The council also decided to investigate that matter before action is taken. Then Alderman Schultz reported that the board of education wanted the Fourth ward voting house which is on the McKinley school grounds removed. With the 2-room addition which is being built on the school, the wall of the addition and the house will abut, and the council decided to investigate the situation before it takes action.

The finance report for the month which was read by Alderman Loehning showed that the city incurred 171 bills amounting to $18,620.64 of which the larger bills were interest on sewer bonds $2,531.25, architect fees for the swimming pool project $3,898, sand and gravel $679.50, poor relief $1,268.25, catch basins $1,216.50 and street lighting $1,233.27. Justice L. O. Cooke reported that total fines and fees for November amounted to $73.07 and Justice Gaylor C. Loehning reported that fines and fees amounted to $128.60.

The council adopted a resolution asking permission from PWA to withdraw $10,000 from the $33,510 bank deposit for the E. Wisconsin avenue E. Canal and Walnut streets paving projects. The council also voted to purchase about $85 worth of envelopes for the assessor's files. Harry F. Webb was granted an operator's license, and the board of the S. A. Cook Armory was granted a dance license.

They are Robert Bahr, Robert Patterson, Lewis Blair, Robert Moulton, Everett Mathewson, Gilbert Mitchell, Russell Hyde, Robert Parmacher and Keith Kettering.

Nine Schools to Enter Teams in Debate Tourney

Students to Take Part in Contests at Neenah Saturday

Neenah—Nine high schools will enter at least 36 teams in the December debate tournament Saturday at Neenah high school, according to Robert Ozzane, Neenah high school, debate coach and tournament manager. The tournaments are open to the public.

The schools are Kaukauna, St. Peter's of Oshkosh, Oconto, Clintonville, Menasha, New London, Wisconsin Rapids, Shawano and Neenah.

The contest will be divided into two tournaments. The schools will enter the best negative and affirmative teams in one of the tournaments and their second teams in the other. The debates will start at 9:30 in the morning and conclude at 3 o'clock in the afternoon with a general assembly in the auditorium.

Three Rounds

Each tournament will be composed of three rounds. Drawings for the morning and drawings for the second round will take place at 11 o'clock in the morning, while drawings for the final round will be at 1:30 in the afternoon.

In each contest, a time limit of 10 minutes will be allowed for the speeches and rebuttals will be limited to five minutes. The debaters will argue the question, "The United States Should Establish an Alliance With Great Britain."

During the general assembly, outcomes of the various debates and ratings of speakers will be announced.

Motorists Warned to Obey Parking Rules

Menasha — Enforcement of the ordinance forbidding parking on the streets of Menasha between the hours of 1 a. m. and 6 a. m. will start immediately, Police Chief Alex Slomski stated today. The council recently passed the ordinance so that cars will be kept off the streets and the new snow plow can do a more efficient job of cleaning the snow off.

Those who permit their cars to remain on the street all night will be prosecuted, the police chief declared. The chief pointed out that cars can be parked in driveways or yards just as convenient as on the street.

Winnebago County Supervisors Vote Increased Budget

Levy of $626,918 Is $19,392 Higher Than For 1938

(Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau)

Oshkosh—The Winnebago county board yesterday increased its budget of $19,392.81 in adopting a tax levy of $626,918.59 for 1939.

Estimated expenditures for the coming year total $772,968.59 while estimated revenues are listed at $121,015. With $50,000 in the contingency fund for emergency, the balance of $626,918.59 will be raised through taxation.

Adoption of the budget ended the 14-day fall session of the board which adjourned until March 7.

In speaking of the budget Chairman Jerry F. Shea said:

"We started with a determination to keep the budget down. The results we have accomplished are gratifying. I am happy that I was able to take part in this job which I feel is well done. The tax rate will be slightly higher, but we knew this was to be in view of the many new expenses we have in connection with our new building and other items which have presented themselves."

1. First take two Bayer Aspirin Tablets in a glass of water and chew them thoroughly. 2. Then dissolve 3 Bayer Tablets in 1/2 glass of water and gargle with it. 3. If temperature does not go down — if throat pains and aches are not quickly relieved — call your family doctor.

Thousands Know This Easy Way to Quick Relief

TAKE A MINUTE to look at the pictures above. They may save you hours of discomfort next time you have a cold or the raw, scratchy sore throat that comes with colds. For these pictures explain the simple way — with genuine Bayer Aspirin — to get quick relief from your pain discomfort. A way countless thousands will tell you is amazingly fast and effective.

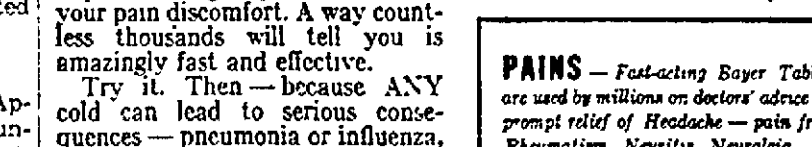

Try it. Then — because ANY cold can lead to serious consequences — pneumonia or influenza, for instance — SEE YOUR DOCTOR. He will tell you whether your cold is serious, and what treatment to follow.

In all probability, he will tell you to continue with the Bayer Aspirin because it acts to relieve the painful discomforts of a cold with remarkable speed. And because it acts to reduce fever. This simple treatment has largely supplanted the use of strong medicines in the treatment of cold symptoms. Perhaps the simplest and most effective way yet discovered.

Remember to ask for "BAYER ASPIRIN" by its full name — not for "aspirin" alone. Get real BAYER ASPIRIN tablets this way.

Lawrence Cagers In Debut Tonight

Oppose Mission House Team Starting at 8 O'clock*VETS WILL START*Five Lettermen are Nominated by Coach
Art Denney

LAURENCE college basketball team which probably will get its share of baskets but which won't sparkle with teamwork, will take the floor of Alexander gymnasium this evening to meet Mission House college five. The game will start at 8 o'clock.

Lawrence has been working for almost a month but because so much time had to be spent on individual fundamentals, Coach Art Denney hasn't had time to smooth out the various combinations. However, several of the men are veterans and should swing into their paces with little difficulty.

Lawrence will be without height now that Cliff Burton and Junior Kapp are gone, and Coach Denney has been building up a fast offense composed of good shots. He has given up hope of doing much follow-up work.

Indications are that the five starters tonight will be lettermen. Norm Faliade, who likes the fast moving game, will pair with Ken Buesing at the guards. They played together last year and offensively leave little to be desired. However, Faliade is one of the smallest men on the team and he's rather handicapped trying to stop all players.

Bennett Returns

George Bennett, who played center in 1936-37 and who was out of school last year, is first choice for the pivot post. However, he's only 6 feet tall and therefore small as centers go.

Nominations for forwards are Wallie Cape, who has the best shot in the circuit when he's hitting, and Harry Jackson who doesn't do so badly providing he can stand rugged competition. He usually is good for several baskets in a few minutes and then seems to tire and wilt.

There's a fair amount of reserve material around and some of it may supplant the veterans before the season gets along. Leroy Lubnow, tackle on the football team, and Art Kaemmer, fullback, are guard prospects along with Bob Smith. Lubnow and Kaemmer are sophomores and rugged although lacking height.

A center prospect is Art Schade, Appleton, who seems to be getting better as he joins confidence in his ability. He's the tallest man on the team and will be a big help as soon as he improves. Still another center prospect and a big, rugged chap is Bill Masterson. Just at the moment he's awaiting a doctor's approval and may have it for tonight's game.

There are four forwards who'll be tossed into the fray at periods. Albert Novakofski has had a fair amount of experience. Red Hirst is small but when he's shooting is the equal of any man. While Charles Schuess and Joe Morton will get better as the season progresses.

Nothing is known about Mission House except that Ripon defeated the team by ten points last week.

Friday and Saturday afternoons the Vikes will have practice games. One will be with the Wire Workers and the other with the Y. M. C. A. both members of the Y-City cage league.

Intramural Cage League Underway

At McKinley Junior High School

Intramural basketball is in full swing at McKinley Junior High school with a Ninth Grade league and a circuit composed of Seventh and Eighth grade players.

Results in the first round of Ninth grade league play follow: Cherry Blossoms 20, Blue Jays 7; Midgets 8, Feather Merchants 25.

Ninth grade teams are composed of the following: Cherry Blossoms, W. Koester, captain, E. Sonneleitner, R. Zuleger, H. Emmer, W. Schroeder, H. Hoppe, Blue Jays, R. Werner, captain, T. Dingeldein, J. McCarter, E. Leisner, H. Van Aetmael, R. Malchow, Midgets, G. Deeg, captain, N. Abel, J. Horne, J. Taggart, J. Guilfoyle, Feather Merchants, D. Stumpf, captain, N. Koss, E. Grishaber, M. Vanderlinden, E. Vanden Berg, M. Timm.

Scores in the first round of the Seventh and Eighth grade league are Badgers 12, Flaming Arrows 7; McKinley Flashes 13, Diamond Oilers 9.

Personnel of the teams follows: Badgers, A. Deeg, captain, M. Prue, G. Kerswill, N. Cotter, M. Ozinga; Flaming Arrows, G. Schaefer, captain, B. Davidson, J. Wagner, G. Schneider, E. Sins; McKinley Flashes, N. Eoen, captain, G. Gambusky, W. Neuman, M. Schulze, F. Burke; Diamond Oilers, R. Kiser, captain, R. Moritz, J. Weinfurter, K. Marks, R. Hafeman, E. Prue.

LACROSSE FEELS LOSE

Winona, Minn.—(P)—St. Mary's college of Winona rolled up an easy 46 to 30 victory over the Lacrosse (Wis.) Teachers here last night.

Chaffin Chatter

By Gordon H. McIntyre

PICKED UP while killing time with Art Denney and Bernie Heselton out at the Vike gym the other afternoon: Bernie was unwrapping the Midwest grid trophy—in Art's office where the packing wouldn't get Bernie's floor dirty—when we walked in. . . . The trophy is like the track trophy last year except for the main figure. . . . A team picture will be placed in the frame.

Bernie still insists Lawrence will have a tough time winning a game next year. . . . The games will be with Coe, Carleton, Monmouth, Carroll, Ripon and Beloit. . . . One more game is to be secured. . . . Incidentally, Monmouth is on the schedule through some change in the round robin plan. . . . And it'll be the Scot homecoming and Bernie says he's going to make the trip with an ambulance 'cause Coach Cahoon will be aiming to get even for this year's game here. . . . Ivy remarked at the Midwest meeting he was all for punching one guy named McIntyre. . . . 'Cause we dared to repeat his remark made here after the trimming Lawrence gave the Scots. . . . And Bernie ribbed him about it at Chicago. . . . 'Twas that "We'll get even with 'em next year." . . . And was said with considerable emphasis.

Heselton is looking for an opening game next fall. . . . Northwestern college doesn't want any of his team. . . . And Art Denney said the game with DePauw University cagers on Dec. 16 will start at 4:30 in the afternoon. . . . The game is giving way to an all-college dance in the gym that night. . . . Which prompted Art to snort in his very best manner.

Grinnell has become a member of the Midwest. . . . Which everyone expected. . . . The Iowa schools don't feel the new team will be too tough despite its recent competition in the Big Six. . . . Coe and Cornell have won and lost games with Cornell just as with other schools. . . . However, Grinnell is expected to let down a bit on some of its high pressure attempts to keep up with Big Sixers. . . . Beginning next fall Grinnell will compete in all sports. . . .

Denney was named secretary of the conference coaches' association which became a permanent organization this trip. . . . It meets the day before the faculty representatives and submits suggestions. . . . The league voted that all conference games will count in standings hereafter. . . . And that five places will count in track which will mean more boys will be taken to conference meets. . . .

Mory Eby, veteran Coe coach and director, was given the job of revamping round robin schedules to include Grinnell. . . . The circuit turned down the moulded basketball and will use the lace ball. . . . The menors felt the moulded ball was too fast, bounded too far away from the hoop and didn't help the game much. . . . Four places will count in cross-country races hereafter. . . . Formerly it was only three.

This from Ronald McIntyre of the Milwaukee Sentinel about Red Smith's being named a Brewer coach:

"Well, the Brewers got away to a good start at the minor league meeting in New Orleans by announcing the signing of Richard (Red) Smith, the pride of the Fox River Valley; as Manager Mickey Heath's first lieutenant this coming season.

"In three years with the Brewer management, Smith more than proved himself an able baseball man and a fellow who would do credit to any organization.

"Joining the Brewers as a catcher when it was impossible to get any one on short notice, Smith immediately became popular with President Henry Bendering.

Despite the fact he had been out of professional baseball for quite a few years, Smith left the Madison Blues and did a heroic job of filling in behind the plate until the regular Brewer backstops were able to return to active duty.

"As a reward, Smith was sent to Fieldale to finish the season as manager of the Brewer farm team there and he had much to do with developing Kenny Keltner who later was sold to the Cleveland Indians for a fancy sum.

"When the Brewers abandoned the team at Fieldale, Smith was sent to Hopkinsville in the Kitty league. Taking a bunch of youngsters, Smith made a great showing his first year and last season his club still just another bunch of kids, won the pennant.

"On last year's team, Smith developed another outstanding player who may be ready for the American association in another year—Harold Peck, the outfielder from Genesee who was plucked out of the 1937 state baseball tournament.

"Because of his work with youngsters, President Bendering decided to move Smith into Milwaukee to lend a helping hand to the young fellows the Brewers are figuring on carrying this year.

"Red not only will be a help to the youngsters but he also will be of great help to Heath in any way Heath wishes to use him. Having played major league and international league baseball, Smith knows the game from one end to the other and above all he is one of the most loyal hired hands any manager might wish to have.

"He proved that at Wisconsin when he stuck through thick and thin with Dr. Clarence W. Spears when, if he had turned against him, he might have been rewarded with a better job. And he's proving it at Green Bay where he has been an immense help to Curley Lambeau in developing winning Packer football teams.

"Milwaukee fans liked Red when he was here as a catcher for a month or so four years ago. And they're going to like him as a coach. They just can't help it."

Red Smith to Coach Milwaukee Brewers

New Orleans—(P)—The Milwaukee Brewers baseball club announced yesterday signing Richard (Red) Smith, who has been managing Brewer farm clubs for three seasons, to a contract as a coach to aid Manager Mickey Heath in 1939.

Smith also is assistant coach of the Green Bay Packer football team.

Krieger and Simmons Signed for Milwaukee

Milwaukee—(P)—The state boxing commission today sanctioned a 10-round match between Solly Krieger, world middleweight champion, and Marty Simmons, of Saginaw, Mich., here Jan. 2.

The bout will be over the mid-weight limit but to a decision.

New York Football Fans Excited Over Pro Title Contest

Giants' Ed Dankowski
Has Best Passing
Mark in League

NEW YORK—(P)—New York's football fans are plenty excited about the Giants' chances of defeating the Green Bay Packers Sunday and capturing the pro crown, and one of the chief reasons is a stocky tow-headed half-back who this year was the best passer in the game.

His name is Ed Dankowski and in the final statistics of the National league, released yesterday, he recaptured the title as the league's most efficient passer. He completed 70 out of 129 aeriels for a percentage of 54.2 to break the league efficiency mark, his own, of 50.4 set in 1935.

The efficiency record hung up by the ex-Fordham player is one of three new individual marks established in the past season. Other individual records were tied.

The Chicago Cardinals' end, Gaynell Tinsley, shared in breaking the record for the longest gain on a forward pass. The play, a toss from Doug Russell to Tinsley, covered 98 yards. Tinsley also tied the mark for number of passes caught with 41. Don Hutson, Green Bay Packers end, tied his own mark for most touchdowns in one season with nine.

The only recruit to win a title was Whizzer White, the Pittsburgh Pirates' all-America rookie from Colorado. The Rhodes scholar gained 567 yards in 152 attempts to win the ground gaining championship. Cecil Isbell, the Packers' first year man had the best average from scrimmage. The former Purdue star averaged 5.2 yards in 85 attempts.

Clarke Hinkle and Hutson, both of Green Bay, led the scoring with 58 and 57 points, respectively. Ward Cuff of the Giants and Ralph Kerecheval, Brooklyn veteran, tied for the field goal title with five each. Kerecheval also was credited with the longest field goal of the season, a 45-yard boot.

PACKERS LEAVE

Green Bay—(P)—Green Bay Packers football players boarded a train for New York late yesterday after a rousing send off and parade to the station taken part in by hundreds of residents.

The Packers will meet the Giants Sunday at the Polo Grounds for the National Professional Football championship. The team will arrive in Manhattan late today and work out in Central park tomorrow and Saturday.

Milt Gantenbein, veteran end, was the only player missing as the team pulled out. He was called to his home at Duluth where his mother is ill, and may not be able to go to New York.

Hutchinson, McLeod

Lead Senior Golfers

Augusta, Ga.—(P)—Veteran professional golfers entered the final 18 of their 36-hole medal play seniors' golf championship today, with $2,000 to be distributed among winners of the three age divisions.

Yesterday's 18-hole round found Jack Hutchinson of Golf, Ill., and Fred McLeod of Washington, D. C. setting the pace with cards of 75—three over par.

Hutchinson, defending titleholder and competing in Class C for players from 50 to 54 years old, carded a 39 and par 36 for his 75. McLeod, who won the national open three years ago, played in Class B for players 55 to 59 years old and put together a 38 and a 37.

Shooting Stars Win

In Marion H. S. Play

Marion—The Shooting Stars defeated the Golden Eagles, 13 to 10, the Bears defeated the Hawks, 9 to 8, and the Wolves defeated the Badgers, 28 to 7, in intramural basketball games at the high school Monday.

Billy Olson and Howard Wienandt starred for the Wolves with 12 and 10 points, respectively, while Dean Arndt counted nine for the Shooting Stars. The standings:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Wolves	3	0	1.000
Bears	3	0	1.000
Shooting Stars	2	1	.667
Hawks	1	2	.333
Golden Eagles	0	3	.000
Badgers	0	3	.000

Chicago Deviates From De-Emphasis; Cagers Win a Game

Chicago—(P)—Chicago's Maroons deviated from the midway "de-emphasis" policy today to join Minnesota and Wisconsin as pace setters in Big Ten basketball campaigning against non-conference opposition.

Their step to the two-victory-without-defeat class, however, was not without a bit of extra effort. In fact, the Maroons had to go two overtimes last night to overcome De Paul, 51 to 48.

Northwestern gave the Big Ten its eighth triumph in nine starts against non members when it put on a scoring flurry in the last half to hand Carleton, conqueror of Iowa, its first defeat of the season, 45 to 23.

Iowa will make its second victory attempt against Monmouth college tomorrow. On Saturday all conference schools except Purdue and Iowa will be in action against non-league rivals.

Talent Abounds On Amateur Card

Milwaukee Scrappers to Mix With Valley Lads Tonight

THE CARD

Eddie Troxel, Oshkosh, versus Douglas O'Toole, Fond du Lac, three rounds at 140 pounds.

Chippy Lutz, Appleton, versus Marty Collura, Milwaukee, three rounds at 138 pounds.

Frank Eisch, Appleton, versus Joe Berger, Milwaukee, three rounds at 150 pounds.

Windups

John Francisco, Ripon College, versus Connie Schuemperli, Milwaukee, five rounds at 128 pounds.

Al Scarlata, Chicago, CYO champion, versus Peter D'Amico, Milwaukee, five rounds at 122 pounds.

Topnotch talent is sprinkled throughout the amateur boxing card to be presented by Ony Johnston, post of the American legion at 8:30 tonight in Armory G. A Milwaukee team with plenty of what it takes will tangle with some of the better Fox river valley scrappers and leather will be flying in all directions tonight.

Matchmaker Leslie Holzer believes the card is the best rounded up this season and has topped it with John Francisco of Ripon college against Connie Schuemperli of Milwaukee and Al Scarlata of Chicago against Peter D'Amico of Milwaukee in two five-round windups.

Appleton will be represented by Chippy Lutz who will tangle with Marty Collura of Milwaukee and Frank Eisch who will square off with Joe Berger of Milwaukee in two of the five preliminaries. The Milwaukee lads have a reputation they aim to protect and will be primed for a team victory.

Worsted Keglers Win

3 in Zwicker League

Zephyrs (2) 728 817 739-2284

Fearless (1) 679 737 751-2167

Worsted keglers won three games during recent Zwicker league matches at Eagles' alleys from Strings as C. Schmidt totaled 471.

High for the Jokers was Gen Schwab with a 467 series.

Shippers rattled high team series of 2,308 but dropped two games to Zephyrs. F. Seeger paced the Zephyrs with a 498 triple white E. LeMay hammered a 210 game and 538 series for the losers.

Angora won the odd game from Fearless Five as D. Arndt thumped 485. M. Ruth had 442 for the losing quint.

TERRY, HARTNETT TRADE PLAYERS

Managers Bill Terry (left), of the New York Giants, and Gabby Hartnett, of the Chicago Cubs had wide grins after they swapped players at the minor league meeting in New Orleans. Terry gave up Hank Lieber, Gus Mancuso and Dick Bartell in return for Frank Demaree, Bill Jurgens and Ken O'Dea in a straight player deal.

Yanks Seek Coast Star but Seattle Is Asking Too Much

BY SID FEDER

NEW YORK—(P)—If the Yanks swing any big deal at New Orleans, it'll be for Freddie Hutchinson, the coast pitching sensation. . . . But so far Seattle's been asking everything but an option on Jake Ruppert's brewery for the kid. . . . Made two propositions to the Yanks to date. . . . Be a Catholic U. footballer and see the world. . . . Dutch Bergman's lads only traveled 2,440 miles this year. . . . Every baseball man in the business, right down to the Browns' batboy, is rooting for George Weiss, the wonder man of the Yanks' minor league set-up, to kayo old man pneumonia.

Oklahoma's undefeated foot-team tossed plenty of black ink on the Sooners' athletic books. One estimate says there'll be a profit of nearly $200,000 to help pay up on the stadium and such. . . . First winter book odds on the Santa Anita handicap (via Jim Carroll, the St. Louis commissioner) list Seabiscuit and Pompoon co-favorites at 2-3. . . . And even though the bookies don't usually go for fillies in the Kentucky derby, they're rating Incoelda, the Missouri-bred stepper, right up there with the other top choices for next spring's blue grass classic. . . .

Speaking of howls, how about that Tobacco bowl down at Richmond, where Fork Union Military academy has won every year since it started in '35? . . . Knocked off an all-star team 21-0 in this year's affair. Roscoe Toles versus Gunnar Barlund in the Hipp tomorrow night should be quite a punch tossing party. . . . Cincinnati Reds already have orders for 21,000 seats for the 39 opener—even if the Phillies or Dodgers are there. . . .

Since the majors started digging into the minors for their managers, (Fred Haney and Doc Prothro, etc.) the minors are coming right back at 'em with some of the same. . . . Boiling Boly Grimes at Montreal and Kiki Cuyler at Chattanooga were yanked right out of the big time, frinstance. . . . Mrs. Stanley F. Brading, editor of the Elizabethton (Tenn.) Versailles Treaty for Developments

Chilton—The Rev. Wilford H. Evans, pastor of the Congregational church at Sheboygan, was the guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Kiwanis club at Hotel Chilton Tuesday evening. It was ladies' night, and the attendance taxed the dining room capacity of the hotel.

The central thought expressed by the speaker was that conditions imposed by the allies on Germany by the treaty of Versailles were responsible for the present European and international situation. Actual developments in European conditions since 1919 now makes defeated Germany the real winner of the World war, he said. Today Germany has acquired Austria and Sudetenland, besides making Czechoslovakia subject to German influence. Germany now dominates the political and economic life of central Europe, and her eastward expansion plans give promise of realization, he maintained.

Democracy has suffered a definite check in Europe, and at present must depend for its future on the leadership of the United States. A revival of the pioneer spirit which conquered the territory of the present United States will, under moral guidance and efficient education, maintain American democracy and ultimately regain its lost prestige in Europe, the speaker declared.

The woman's chorus from the Chilton Woman's club sang two songs, directed by Mrs. Nellie Hipke. Those taking part were Mrs. H. F. Arps, Mrs. Arthur Jensen, Mrs. Wm. Stauss, Mrs. J. E. Reinbold, Mrs. Edward Landgraf, Mrs. Otto Schmidt, Mrs. G. M. Morrissey, Mrs. R. C. Maples, Mrs. C. O. Poper and Mrs. Oscar Schaub.

Mrs. H. F. Arps sang several Christmas songs, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. J. E. Reinbold.

Mrs. Berntha Alves fell in her home Tuesday morning and fractured her right arm at the wrist.

A. S. Hipke, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hipke and Mrs. C. O. Poper were in Milwaukee Monday to attend the funeral of Mrs. G. A. Hipke, wife of Dr. C. A. Hipke, who died Friday after a long illness. She was well known here, having frequently visited with relatives in this city.

He took up his residence at Herman, Sheboygan county. In 1881 he came to Potter, where he had since lived.

He enlisted in the Civil war, Aug. 2, 1862, as a private in Company C, 27th Wisconsin Infantry and was discharged in 1865. Survivors are, one son Hugo Kalk and one daughter Mrs. August Wenzel, five grand children and nine great grandchildren, all of Potter.

Funeral services were conducted by the Bloedorn Post of Brillion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Members of the Woman's Relief corps, American Legion and auxiliaries of Brillion, Hilbert, Chilton, Stockbridge, Sheboygan and Manitowoc took part in the ceremony. Henry Siemers, of Sheboygan, representative of the G. A. R., was present. Bearers were Charles Schaffer, Earnest Hintz, Charles Kleist, William Lerche, Herman Kleinow, and August Schaffer.

Five Hundred Club Has Meeting at Hilbert

Hilbert—The five hundred club met Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. George Wolf. Three tables were in play and awards were won by Mrs. Herman Behnke, Jr., and Mrs. Anton Seichter. Mrs. Fred Boesiger will be the hostess next week.

Dr. Grosshuesch, of the Mission House College, will be the guest speaker at the meeting of the Men's League of Peace Reform church at Potter at 7:30 Thursday evening in the church parlors.

Funeral services for Calumet county's last Civil war veteran, Herman Kalk, 98, were held at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at Peace Reform church at Potter. Mr. Kalk was born June 6, 1840, in Germany and came to America March 4, 1848.

Harold Jensen Chosen

Board Finds Gillette
Reelected Iowa Senator

Des Moines, Iowa—(AP)—The Iowa state canvassing board Wednesday awarded reelection to United States Senator Guy M. Gillette, Democrat, by a 2,805 vote margin over his Republican opponent former Senator L. J. Dickinson.

The board compiled official returns from the state's 99 counties but will not issue Gillette an election certificate until the canvass for all offices is completed.

Its figures showed that Gillette polled 413,788 votes in the Nov. 8 election, against 410,983 for Dickinson.

Dickinson has filed injunctions in 23 Iowa voting machine counties preventing changing of the machines' figures and indicating that he may contest the election in the senate chamber.

Behnke and family, all of Brillion; Miss Gladys Jaeger and Ralph Lau of Kiel, Mrs. Frank Wilke Sr. and Herbert Fuhrey of White Fish Bay.

Mrs. A. J. Wagner was hostess to the members of her bridge club at her home Tuesday evening. Club members present were the Mesdames John Bartz, Joseph Ecker, Charles Fritz, W. C. Schlei, Louis Mumm and O. C. Wordell. High honors were received by Mrs. Louis Mumm and Mrs. Michael Kleiber and the floater by Mrs. Charles Fritz.

Mrs. William Ross was hostess to the members of her five hundred club at her home on Monday evening.

Manager Issues Schedule, Rules For City League

Play Will Begin Sunday Afternoon With 3 Games Slated

Kaukauna — The schedule and rules for play in the city basketball league were issued yesterday by James T. Judd, manager of the league. Play will begin Sunday afternoon with three games slated, the Gustmans versus Panty Lunch, the CYO versus D-X Oils and the Mellow Brews versus Pulpmakers. Entrance fees must be in the Saturday, Judd announced. Teams must forfeit games which fail to report to play, fail to have five men in uniform at the scheduled starting time and teams which use one or more ineligible men. Players must be listed with the secretary not later than Wednesday, and must remain on the teams which they are listed during the first half. The only eligible players are residents of Kaukauna and those who receive mail through the Kaukauna post office on rural routes. At the close of the first half of the schedule any team rating lower than third place may increase its strength by enrolling new men.

Schedule of Games

The schedule is as follows: Dec. 17, CYO vs. Panty Lunch, Gustmans vs. Mellow Brews; Dec. 18, D-X Oils vs. Pulpmakers, Mellow Brews vs. Visitors. Jan. 7, Mellow Brews vs. D-X Oils, CYO vs. Gustmans; Jan. 8, Panty Lunch vs. Pulpmakers, D-X Oils vs. Visitors. Jan. 15, Pulpmakers vs. CYO, Panty Lunch vs. Mellow Brews; Jan. 16, Gustmans vs. D-X Oils, Pulpmakers vs. Visitors. Jan. 22, Gustmans vs. Pulpmakers, Panty Lunch vs. D-X Oils; Jan. 23, CYO vs. Mellow Brews, Gustmans vs. Visitors. Feb. 4, Gustmans vs. D-X Oils, Mellow Brews vs. Panty Lunch; Feb. 5, Pulpmakers vs. CYO, Panty Lunch vs. Visitors. Feb. 11, Panty Lunch vs. Pulpmakers, Gustmans vs. CYO; Feb. 12, Mellow Brews vs. D-X Oils, Gustmans vs. Visitors. Feb. 18, D-X Oils vs. Panty Lunch, CYO vs. Mellow Brews; Feb. 19, Gustmans vs. Pulpmakers, Mellow Brews vs. Visitors. Chemist Relates Paper History at Rotary Meeting

Dr. Martin Downs of Thilmany's Is Speaker at Club Luncheon

Kaukauna — The development of paper making from the days of the Chinese to present times was described to the Kaukauna Rotary club yesterday noon at Hotel Kaukauna by Dr. Martin Downs, chief chemist of the Thilmany Pulp and Paper company. A modern plant must produce not merely rolls of paper, but a product to be sold according to specification and function, with each type suited to a particular use, Dr. Downs said.

The Chinese first made paper by hand in 105 A. D., the speaker began, with the process reaching Egypt in 800 and Spain in 1100, from where it finally got to England about 1500. In England it was first produced commercially with waste rags as the raw material.

At this time the average result of a 14-hour working day was about 100 pounds of paper, while at present 4 men will produce 300 tons, a ratio of 1 to 2,000, the chemist said in comparing the increases in rate of production. The first patent for making a continuous sheet was taken out in 1799 in France, under a process which would produce sheets about 45 feet long. Modern machines may run for a week without stopping, Dr. Downs again compared.

New Processes The real dawn of modern paper-making came about 1850 when processes for making paper of material other than waste rags were discovered. The use of wood chips cooked with caustic soda came into being, and later the sulphite and craft processes were invented. The first lease on the sulphite process, patented in Germany, was held in America by August Thilmany, who sold his rights to the company that established the first sulphite mill in the country, Dr. Downs said.

He also described other advances in the field of papermaking such as the use of bleaching and the use of dyes for coloring matter. Modern demands for packaged goods of all description and high speed printing have caused a great increase in the demand for paper. The product must be of uniform quality, however, and it is the duty of the chemists to test the incoming raw material and the paper in the process of production to insure this uniformity.

"Modern mills must continue to find new fields for their products," Dr. Downs concluded. "Only those that do will survive modern competition."

New Basketball Squad Organized at Kaukauna

Kaukauna — A Sinclair Oils basketball five, sponsored by Joe Conrad, has been organized in Kaukauna, with city league players making up the player lists. Games for the newly organized quintet have been scheduled by Manager Stan Beguhn against St. Norbert college freshmen, Kimberly B team, Stockbridge, Little Chute and Menasha. All these games will be played this month.

Kaukauna Masons Purchase Former Theater Building

Kaukauna — Kaukauna Free and Accepted Masons, lodge No. 233, have purchased the former Vaudeville theater building on Second street from William Van Dyke and are making it into a temple, according to Herman A. Baier, lodge head. The first floor will be used as a lodge room, with a new front installed, while a dining room and kitchen will be placed on the second floor. A lounge will be built near the first floor entrance. In addition to the Masons the Royal Arch Masons and the Order of Eastern Star will use the new temple, which is expected to be ready for occupancy by March.

Senior Class to Stage Comedy at School Tonight

Presentation of 'Crazy House' Will Climax Month of Rehearsals

Kaukauna — Tonight at 8:15 in the civic auditorium Kaukauna High school seniors will present their annual play, this year a 3-act comedy entitled "Crazy House." The presentation will climax a month of rehearsals under the direction of James W. Lang, assisted by Miss Ethelyn Handran and Miss Frances C. Corry.

The final touches were put upon the production yesterday afternoon as a dress rehearsal was held for grade school students. The play revolves about the antics of an ultra-modern family, the Beldinkers, and has a cast of 12.

The parts include straight roles and characters with much opportunity for exaggeration. Those who have parts and their roles are Mary Jane Garrity, Mrs. Aspasia Beldinker; Ena Richards, Grandma Dimity; Clifford Femal, Aay Beldinker; Arlene Van Gompel, Bec Beldinker; Armella Boucher, See Beldinker; Lorraine Truymann, Suzy Kloppenbauer; Robert Nielsen, Jonathan Pypuss; Earl O'Connor, Peter G. Tillu; John Burns, Giuseppe de Botticelli; Clifford Kalista, Dick Charles, and Lorraine Powers, Laura.

Committees which arranged the play are business, Miss Lucille Ley, Jack Blake, Germaine DeBruin; stage, E. D. Rice, Herbert Weber; David Nelson, Louise Faust; costumes, Miss Ethelyn Handran, Miss Ann Gibbons, Mildred Noie; publicity, Eunice Luebke, Miss Corry; makeup, Miss Handran, Marian Egan; prompters, Grace Nagan, Betty Verfurth.

Kaukauna Police Make 13 Arrests in Month

Kaukauna — Thirteen arrests, five on traffic charges, are listed in the monthly report for November of Chief of Police James E. McFadden. There were four charges of disorderly conduct, three of drunkenness, three of speeding, two of reckless driving and one of petty larceny. Four garnishees and five summons were served. Fines levied amounted to $101.50, with fees $46.57. Of this total $62.70 has been paid into the city treasury with $35.37 pending.

Relief Costs Up During November

Kaukauna Outlay Increases $1,085 Over October Figure

Kaukauna — An increase of $1,085.56 in city relief charges for November over October was reported today by Joseph V. Krahn, relief department director. Charges last month were $2,390.82, compared to $1,305.26 the previous month, Krahn said.

Eighteen more relief cases were on the books Nov. 30 than were listed Oct. 31, Krahn reported. There were 76 on the latter date and 95 on Nov. 30. Twenty-four new cases were opened in November, and six dropped.

There are now 131 men and 10 women employed on WPA, and 10 boys and 8 girls on NYA. Itemized relief expenses for November were groceries, $219; clothing, $49; fuel, $277; medical care, $208; medical supplies, $302; dental care, $25; hospitalization, $304; eye, ear, nose and throat, $92; burial, $190; office, $33; miscellaneous expense, $4. County charges, for which the city will be reimbursed, amounted to $497.63.

Municipal Skating Rink Topic At Clintonville Council Meet

Clintonville — Matters pertaining to a municipal skating rink were discussed at the regular December meeting of the city council Tuesday evening. Alderman Henry Schellien, chairman of the project, reported that a warming shack will be erected at the mill pond and the skating area will be supervised and lighted until 10 o'clock in the evening. Parents are being asked to cooperate with the committee by urging their youngsters to leave the pond as soon as the lights are turned off. A petition also was received asking for a skating rink on the slough located at the west end of Brix. This was referred to the committee.

C. R. Kant, representing the Rohrer Lumber company, appeared before the council relative to the erection of a lumber shed 100 feet long on the company's property along the river in the rear of the city hall. A building permit had been denied by the city building inspector because of the location being in the fire limits. City Attorney C. C. Mullarkey was asked to take up the matter with the state licensing bureau.

The finance committee was given authority to act on the matter of having the city books audited for the year of 1938, the records having been audited up to that time. A letter from the municipal accounting division of the Wisconsin Department of State brought the matter to the attention of the aldermen.

A petition for a street light on E. First street was referred to the water and light commission.

August Kuester appeared before the aldermen in regard to a stone-crusher which has been in use at the municipal airport and which he desires to sell to the city. After some discussion, the matter was tabled for further consideration. The stone-crusher work done by the machine at the airport project was paid for at the rate of 20 cents per cubic yard. It was pointed out that it will be necessary to do more stone-crushing work on the runways there next spring.

It was voted to repair the large roller used at the airport, the engine being damaged recently by freezing. Councilmen have requested an explanation from the project foreman, Russell Gunderson, as to why the water was not drained from the machine on that occasion.

Alderman Schellien of the poor committee reported that 135 men have applied for relief or work during the last few weeks. Considerable discussion took place as to the best way to employ as many of these men as possible. Sewer jobs are now underway on Anne street and Maize street near the cannery factory, while additional sewer projects are soon to be started on Modoc and Brix streets. The sewer committee was authorized to secure easements wherever necessary for the construction of these lines.

Following a thorough investigation by a sewer contractor from Sheboygan, recommendation was made to the sewer committee that a receiving sewer with a pumping station be erected on W. Thirteenth street to serve Thirteenth and W. Fourteenth streets, which have difficulty in obtaining sufficient fall to enter nearby lines. The estimated cost of the project is $9,500. The council voted to proceed with the project, thereby giving employment to a large number of local men.

The remainder of the session was devoted to routine business, which included the allowing of bills and hearing monthly reports of the city treasurer, the milk inspector and the street commissioner.

This is the way to wash your upholstery: Dissolve one cup of shaved mild soap or some soap powder in four cups of boiling water; cool, then beat with an egg beater until fluffy. Dip a small clean brush into the fluff and scrub a small area of the upholstery at a time. Wipe the suds off quickly with a clean cloth, then rinse thoroughly with another cloth frequently wrung out in clean water. (Change this water often). Wipe as dry as possible with soft cloth.

Auxiliary Carriers are Named at Clintonville

Clintonville — Anton Bohr and Fred Lange have been appointed auxiliary mail carriers on the rural routes during the winter months. They will begin their duties Dec. 16 and will continue until April 16, 1939. The two auxiliary carriers take over portions of the routes served regularly by Kenneth Darling, carrier on route 1, Mrs. Helen Hogan, route 2, and Arthur Korb, route 3.

Mrs. Walter E. Schilling entertained at a "Missionary tea" Wednesday afternoon at her home on Brix street. The society is preparing a box of bedding and other room furnishings to be sent to Pleasant Hill academy, a girls' school in Tennessee which is under the sponsorship of the Congregational church. As an entertainment feature there was a cornet solo played by Miss Mae Patterson with piano accompaniment by Miss June Abrahamson.

Mrs. Fred Holmes, Mrs. Irving Auld, Mrs. Harley Powell and Mrs. Albert Fritz were hostesses at a 1 o'clock luncheon at Hotel Marson Wednesday. The affair was in the form of a Christmas party with eleven tables of bridge in play during the afternoon. Those who received prizes were: Mrs. Francis Higgins and Mrs. Harry Champlovier, high; Mrs. R. A. Greb and Mrs. Agnes Leake, medium; Mrs. W. H. Finney and Mrs. G. W. Spang, low.

Mrs. Ernest Hoffman and her daughter, Mrs. Joe Zehren, entertained relatives and friends Tuesday evening at the latter's home on W. Eighteenth street in honor of their daughter and sister, Mrs. Ben Sasse of this city. Cards and other games were played at five tables, after which a lunch was served.

Arno Milhaupt Rites

To be Held Saturday
Chilton — Arno Milhaupt, 51, died at Fond du Lac at 8 o'clock Wednesday morning after a short illness. Although his parents formerly lived in Chilton, the deceased was born in New Holstein and had lived his entire life there. Twenty-five years ago he was married to Miss Ione Loftus. Surviving are his widow, his mother, Mrs. Eva Milhaupt, New Holstein; and by two sisters. The funeral will be conducted from Holy Rosary church in New Holstein at 9:30 Saturday morning by the Rev. Alfred Pritzel. Burial will be in Holy Rosary cemetery.

A carving knife with an 8-inch blade can be used on the Christmas turkey but a nine-inch blade is better. Whatever the length of the blade, it should be very sharp.

Safety Discussed at Meeting at Chilton
Chilton — The regular meeting of the Woman's club was held Monday evening in the city hall. The meeting was open to the public, and was held jointly with the county safety council. Mrs. William Stauss, president of the club, presented Ray Jensen, county highway commissioner, who gave a brief talk. He confined his address largely to a citation of the dangers that accompany driving even at the most careful drivers. He stated that

THE WORLD OF STAMPS

BY THE AP FEATURE SERVICE

Proud of its recently proclaimed empire, Italy has issued a set of colorful stamps which condense the story of Roman history—from the founding of Rome in 753 B. C. to the conquest of Ethiopia—into 10 vignettes. Mussolini is not pictured, but his script M signs a quotation on each stamp—the words being from Il Duce's speeches and writings.

Romulus, the wolf-suckled emperor, is striding behind an ancient plow and pair of oxen, preparing the site of Rome, on the 10-centimil brown. The date "753 a. C." (B. C.) is in the upper left corner, and the inscription, in Italian, reads, "Following the sign of infallible destiny."

On the 20-c carmine rose appears a familiar statue of Augustus Caesar, the date 30 a. C. and the phrase, "Coordination of all forces under the orders of one man." The figure of Dante against the background of a huge eagle distinguishes the 25-c green which carries Dante's dates, 1265-1321, and the words, "The most lofty genius of poetry."

That famous Genoese, Columbus, stands in the prow of a ship on the 30-c olive brown. The date, of course, is 1492; the M-signed quotation, "The most lofty genius of poetry."

The most audacious navigator of the seas? Leonardo da Vinci's portrait, heavily bearded, has a background of one of his statues and a bit of his flying machine model on the 50-c violet. His dates, 1452-1519, appear, and the quotation, "The most profound mind in the art and sciences."

"The passion for unity breaks out" is Mussolini's sentence on the 75-c scarlet which shows Garibaldi, the patriot, riding a horse beside that of King Victor Emmanuel II, grandfather of the current King. The dates, 1821 and 1870, enclose the era in which the Italian states were being consolidated into a political unit.

On the 1.25-lire blue stands an Italian soldier beside Rome's Tomb of the Unknown Soldier. The dates 1915-1918 are beneath the word, "The sacrifice was great but not in vain." The 1.75-lire gray shows the first Black Shirts riding on trucks in 1922. "The victory was won and forever," reads the inscription.

A map of Ethiopia, with the crown of that former monarchy resting upon it, is framed by the cross and the fasces on the 1936-dated 2.75-lire gray green. Here Il Duce says, "An empire of civilization and humanity for the people of Ethiopia."

The 5-lire reddish brown, picturing King Victor Emmanuel III, bears Mussolini's tribute, "Of him I have no doubt." The dates on this stamp, 1911, 1918 and 1936, refer to the acquisition of Tripoli, Rhodes, Trento, Trieste and Ethiopia which are listed at one side.

The stamps are all arranged in upright format and printed by photogravure. There are also six airmail stamps. The 25-c green and 3-lire brown carry a picture of the king; 50-c olive brown and 1-lire violet, the same Dante design as the 25-c regular postage; 2-lire blue and 5-lire green, the da Vinci design.

Royal Visit Issue

Canada will issue three commemoratives to honor the visit of King George and Queen Elizabeth next summer. W. D. Euler, acting postmaster general, has announced. The date of the issue has not been set.

Another soon-due series from Warsaw will be a set to replace the current Polish stamps overprinted "Port Gdansk" which have been used in Danzig. These stamps will be of 5, 10, 15 and 25 grosz and the design will picture the sale of wheat in Danzig during the middle ages.

CHRISTMAS STAMPS

A special souvenir sheet of the four corner seals with one regular Christmas seal is a new stamp collector's item. On this year's sheet of seals the four corner stamps are different. Portraits of pioneers in tuberculosis history appear—Laennec, the Frenchman who invented the stethoscope in 1819; Koch of Germany who discovered the germ of tuberculosis in the United States in 1882; Trudeau, who established the modern sanatorium treatment of tuberculosis in the United States in 1885, and Einar Holboell who in 1904 introduced the idea of selling Christmas seals to fight tuberculosis. The stamps are artistically printed in color and enclosed in a special envelope. Although this is the thirty-second seal sale in the nation, in order to have a complete collection including this year's the collector must have 36 varieties of design. There were two designs in 1907 and four in 1913. Collectors may obtain Christmas seals from the 49 foreign countries which have adopted this method of raising funds to fight the disease.

Band Mothers Club Formed at Hilbert

Mrs. Harry Anderson Is Elected President of Organization

Hilbert—At the meeting Tuesday evening, at the schoolhouse for the purpose of organizing a Band mothers club, the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Harry Anderson; vice president, Mrs. Edgar Burkhardt; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Arthur Depies.

Nineteen mothers enrolled as members. The business meeting was followed by lunch.

Christmas trees were delivered to business places, Tuesday, and placed in position, ready for the Christmas lighting.

The Woman's Relief Corps will hold its regular meeting, Thursday evening, at the schoolhouse. Election of officers will be the main feature of the evening.

Mrs. Rose Weinstein, of Wahpeton, N. D., arrived here Saturday night. She was called here by the illness of her father, Robert Portman, who is staying at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Anna Schumaker.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay Baldock of Hilbert and Mrs. Mary Goff of De Pere; autoed to Neenah to visit the former's sister, Mrs. Viola Davis, of Chilton, who is a patient at Theda Clark hospital, where she submitted to a major operation last Friday.

Mrs. Davis is recovering slowly.

Mrs. Ralph Bishop, who is employed at Ephram is spending a few weeks' vacation at the home of her son, Mr. and Mrs. Russel Bishop.

CHECK TOBACCO

Hopkinsville, Ky.—(P)—Kentucky tobacco growers have received orders not to bind their leaf with rubber bands when they take it to the action floors.

Manufacturers who buy the tobacco say the rubber bands sometimes were ground up with the leaf.

Program to be Given By Hortonville Group

Hortonville—The following program will be given Friday afternoon by the Alpha Literary society: Piano accordion solo, Dorothy Frieburger; clarinet solo, Robert Schriener; reading, Julia Lapp; play, "Coon Creek Courtship," Alice McNutt and Merlin Scott; reading, Lillian Gitter; locals, Isabelle Erke.

The Pep club, under the direction of Dorothy Collar, a high school senior, is selling candy.

Friday evening Shiocton High school will bring three basketball teams to play Hortonville teams. At 6:30 the grade school "Cubs" will play. At 7:15 the "B" teams will play. At 8:15 the Polar Bears will play Shiocton's "A" squad. Shiocton won its first game last Friday and is tied with Winneconne and Hortonville for first place. The public school band will play at the game Friday evening.

HOLIDAY BARGAIN HUNTERS LEARN WHISKEY ECONOMY AS SURVEY AMONG 1,000 MEN REVEALS STARTLING RESULTS!

Out of 1,000 Men Who Sampled OLD QUAKER—Now 3 Years Old—960 Found it Superbly Mellow, Rich in Flavor—Confirming Our Belief that OLD QUAKER Rivals Many Higher Priced Whiskies!

"It's mild—that's what I like about it!" says Dan J. Negus, Atlanta Hotel Man, to Investigator Anderson, after trial of 3-year Old Quaker.

It's a fact! This year you won't have to spend extra dollars to get whiskey that's "good enough for the holidays." Just the opposite! For, Old Quaker—now 3 years old—rivals many fine whiskeys that are more expensive! Here's why we say so—

We sought out 1,000 men and asked them for their frank opinion of Old Quaker. "Smell it!" we said. "Taste it! Take a drink of it! Then tell us what you think!"

None of these men knew the name, age or price of the whiskey he was trying—yet 960 of them found Old Quaker rich in flavor, mild and delightfully smooth... confirming our belief that Old Quaker is an amazing bargain at its rock-bottom price.

How This Concerns You If your taste agrees with these 960 out of 1,000 men—here's the direct way for you to save money on whiskey. Make the same simple trial of 3-year Old Quaker yourself! See for yourself that this is the cheeriest news of the season! Give choice whiskey for the holidays—stock up on it for your own holiday hospitality—yet do it with utmost economy!

"Now I know why people like straight whiskey! I'll buy Old Quaker in the future!" remarks J. T. Ralford, Engineer.
